General Quotations

OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges of the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. In this department of General Quotations we combine in one comprehensive whole, securities of all classes and descriptions, not only those dealt in on the exchanges but also leading unlisted and inactive securities. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for equipment bonds are based on average maturities.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

Banks & Trust Companies

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

was as much as ½ of 1%—that is, call loans could be obtained outside the Stock Exchange at only 1% per annum. On Monday, Sept. 21, the day when all the financial markets became demoralized as a result of the suspension of gold payments by Great Britain and the concurrent action of the Bank of England in raising its rate of discount from 4½% to 6%, there were no offerings of money on call at any concession from the Stock Exchange figure of 1½%, but the next day such offerings were again the feature, funds being available outside the Exchange at 1¼%, and this continued to be the case for all the remaining days of the month. This was all the more noteworthy inasmuch as the turnover of funds at the middle of the month, growing out of the operations of the United States Treasury in floating $800,000,000 of Treasury bonds and $300,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness, were of huge magnitude, totaling more than $2,000,000,000. Later in the month, also, as already related, there came the sale of $100,000,000 of 91-day Treasury bills. The withdrawals of gold from the New York Federal Reserve Bank for export and for earmarking aggregated no less than $305,700,000, the earmarkings taking $277,000,000 and the engagements for exports reaching $28,700,000.

Nevertheless, the New York money market was, as stated, affected in only minor degree, the acceptance or bill market alone giving evidence of the presence of the disturbing factors referred to, and even there only in a small way. In the time loan branch of the market there was no change in the low rates ruling for so long until the last few days of the month, when some stiffening of rates occurred which was reflected mainly in an advance in the rate for 90-day loans to 2½%, though rates for other periods, which continued largely nominal, also moved up in unison. The daily record for these time loans is shown in the following table:

In the rates for commercial paper there was no change whatever during the month. The demand for paper diminished somewhat the latter part of September, but supplies of paper of the desirable grades remained short the same as before. The "Monthly Review" of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in observing that inactivity continued to be reported in the commercial paper market during September, goes on to say: "On one side, the amount of new paper that was created was of small volume, while on the other hand the bank investment demand was generally light. In previous months the principal deterrent to a larger sales volume had been the limited amount of paper that dealers had been able to offer, but in September the absence of a demand for paper on the part of the banks was also a factor. Consequently, there was a tendency toward slightly higher rates in the second half of September, although the prevailing rate for prime names remained at 2%. The Reserve bank also says that "at the end of August the amount of commercial paper outstanding through 20 dealers that repart their figures to this bank was 6% smaller than a month earlier, the outstandings of $271,000,000 being little more than half of the amount reported at this time in 1930."

It was in the acceptance market that the disturbing influence of the financial conditions abroad made their influence felt, and this was mainly because foreign banks disposed of large portions of their holdings of bills in this market in order to acquire gold. The condition statement for the 12 Federal Reserve banks showed that the amount of bills held by the Reserve banks for foreign correspondents was only $100,118,000 Sept. 30 as against $233,102,000 on Sept. 15. This, it will be seen, was a reduction in two weeks' time of, roughly, $133,000,000. A market for this $133,000,000 of bills had to be found, either with the acceptance houses or the Federal Reserve Bank, and in the end the dealers also had to have recourse to the Reserve banks, which apparently stood ready to take over all the bills that might be offered to them. The effect of such a large volume of supplies coming on the market within such a brief space of time was to cause an advance in the market rates for acceptances. Rates were unchanged until Wednesday morning, Sept. 23, when they were moved up ⅛ of 1% for all maturities. This was followed by a second advance of ¼ of 1% the next day, namely, Thursday, Sept. 24. On Friday, Sept. 25, the New York Federal Reserve Bank, whose purchasing rate for acceptances had remained unchanged at 1%, marked up its buying rate to 1¼%. On Saturday, Sept. 26 (Saturday being a day when ordinarily little or no business is transacted in the bill market), rates just before the close of the half day's business at noon time, or, to be exact, at 11:55 a. m., a further advance of ¼ of 1% was made, but only for maturities of five and six months. The "Monthly Review" of the Federal Reserve Bank said that these advances in rates resulted from large offerings of bankers' acceptances to dealers in connection with the movement of funds growing out of the withdrawals of gold for export, together with some apprehension as to possible effects on money conditions of continued gold exports and earmarkings. It also said, however, that "These changes were evidently due to the particular situation of the bill market and to anticipation of possible general tendencies in money rather than to any actual shortage of funds in the market, as is indicated by a continued excess reserve position of New York banks, the continuation of the call money rate unchanged at 1½%, and a quotation of ⅛ to ¼ of 1% on Federal funds throughout this whole period."

As to the bill market generally, the Federal Reserve Bank says that "during the first part of September dealers' purchases of bills exceeded their sales, and the portfolios of the discount houses showed a net increase until around the middle of the month. At that time the quarterly financing operations of the Treasury placed a considerable amount of funds in the New York money market temporarily and caused an excess of reserves in the New York City banks, so that these banks became buyers of bills and dealers' portfolios were reduced to about the level prevailing at the opening of the month. In the succeeding week, however, substantial offerings of bills were made to the dealers by New York banks, which were disposing of bills for the account of foreign correspondents in order to provide funds with which to purchase gold for earmarking at the Federal Reserve Bank. These sales to the dealers, together with some apprehension of firmer conditions in the money market, led dealers to raise their rates. The rate increases by the dealers caused New York banks to sell to the Reserve bank a very large volume of bills which they had purchased or discounted at lower rates. As a result of sales to the Reserve bank and the higher bid rates quoted in the open market, dealers' portfolios of bills toward the end of the month became of comparatively small proportions."

It deserves to be noted that another reduction in the volume of outstanding bankers' acceptances was reported on Sept. 15 by the American Acceptance Council in announcing the result of its monthly survey as of Aug. 31. A drop of $137,802,330 during the month of August brought the total of outstanding bills down to $1,090,399,849, or the smallest total since September 1928 and $248,983,916 under the total outstanding at the corresponding day in 1930. From Jan. 1 1931 to Aug. 31 the volume of dollar acceptances showed a reduction of $466,000,000, of which loss $278,000,000 occurred during July and August. At the end of August the banks which make reports to the Acceptance Council held $606,000,000 of their own and other bills out of the total of $1,090,399,849 of acceptances outstanding, holding these as investments, but their holdings must have been reduced during September as the result of sales of bills to the Reserve banks.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

There were again a number of striking changes in the condition statements of the Federal Reserve banks. The figures afforded further strong evidence going to show that the Reserve banks were engaged in a new scheme of inflation. This appeared both from the big increase in the volume of Reserve credit outstanding and in the volume of Federal Reserve notes in circulation, and evidently the banks were engaged in offsetting the earmarking and exports of gold by increasing the amount of Reserve notes outstanding. After having increased the amount of Reserve notes in circulation from $1,735,501,000 July 29 to $1,945,507,000 Aug. 26, there was a further increase to $2,097,793,000 Dec. 30. In like manner the volume of Reserve credit outstanding, as measured by the bill and security holdings, after rising from $934,795,000 July 29 to $1,156,636,000 Aug. 26, rose still further to $1,557,970,000 Sept. 30. All the different items making up the total of the bill and security holdings recorded further substantial increases during September. United States Government securities, which had risen from $677,977,000 July 29 to $727,998,000 Aug. 26, rose still further to $742,345,000 September 30.

It should perhaps be said that the holdings of United States Government securities for Sept. 16 included special Treasury certificates for $14,000,000, which disappeared again the next week. These represented one-day certificates sold by the United States Treasury to obtain funds pending the collection of income taxes. It appears that at one time the Reserve banks held $130,000,000 of these one-day certificates and that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York sold participations totaling $90,000,000 on Sept. 15, and half that amount on the following day to member banks in order to relieve the banks of part of the large excess of funds which they held as a result of Treasury disbursements along with the income tax collections. It should also be added that the sale of $800,000,000 of Treasury bonds at the beginning of September once more provided the member banks with large Government deposits against which they are not obliged to hold any reserves. For the whole country the deposits growing out of the sale reached $624,844,000, and in the New York district there were $204,294,500.

The discount holdings of the Reserve banks, which reflect direct borrowing by the member banks, increased from $183,036,000 July 29 to $241,718,000 Aug. 26, and increased still further to $327,925,000 Sept. 30. But the biggest expansion of all is shown in the holdings of acceptances purchased in the open market. These had moved up from $66,536,000 on July 29 to $180,518,000 Aug. 26, and now mounted up to $468,527,000 Sept. 30. The early increase reflected heavy additions to the holdings of foreign bills in the carrying out of the credits extended to the Bank of England, the Bank of Germany, &c., but the enormous further additions later in the month were of a different nature. They represented the taking over by the Reserve banks of domestic bills held for account of their foreign correspondents, which these latter disposed of in order to obtain funds for the purchase of the large amounts of gold acquired by them for export or for earmarking. On that point it should be noted that in the last week of the month alone these bill holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions almost doubled in amount, standing at $468,527,000 Sept. 30 against $243,189,000 Sept. 23, while the gold holdings in that week, which had dropped from $3,485,739,000 Sept. 16 to $3,327,433,000 Sept. 23, fell to $3,138,181,000 Sept. 30. That this big addition to the Reserve bill holdings represented bills formerly held in large part by the foreign banks is evident from the fact that the reports of the Reserve institutions show that their holdings of bills purchased for their foreign correspondents were reduced first from $233,102,000 Sept. 16 to $181,436,000 Sept. 23, and then to $100,118,000 Sept. 30. Another factor in the acquisition of gold by or on behalf of foreign banks is seen in the drawing down of the deposits of foreign banks with the Reserve institutions from $207,415,000 Sept. 9 to $197,297,000 Sept. 16, and then to $162,073,000 Sept. 23, and finally to $95,135,000 Sept. 30.

The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in describing the process by which foreign banks obtained such huge amounts of gold, said: "The funds used by foreign central banks to pay for gold earmarked were provided in three principal ways. In the first place foreign central banks held, on Sept. 21, about $185,000,000 of deposits at the Reserve banks and a considerable part of this was turned into gold. In addition, foreign central banks sold to the Reserve Banks considerable volume of bills held in safe keeping for the by the Reserve banks. But in addition to these operatio foreign central banks called upon correspondent banks New York City with which they had deposits or fun employed to make payments to the Reserve Banks for t purchase of gold."

As to brokers' loans, there is nothing to say beyond maki the statement that these underwent further contraction, a the statement is true whether we have reference to t figures compiled by the Federal Reserve Bank of New Yo each week or to those compiled once a month by the Ne York Stock Exchange itself. In the case of the former s of figures there was a reduction from $1,349,000,000 Aug. and $1,366,000,000 Sept. 2, to $1,172,000,000 Sept. 30, th being the lowest level at which these brokers' loans by t reporting member banks in New York City has stood sin Nov. 28 1923, when the amount was $1,168,942,000. In t case of the monthly statement of the Stock Exchange, sho ing borrowings by members, the amount fell from $1,35 067,350 on Aug. 31 to $1,044,407,879 Sept. 30.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING SEPTEMBER.

In the foreign exchanges, and in the sterling exchan particularly, the event of prime importance was, of cours the suspension of gold payments by the Bank of Englan This came on Monday, Sept. 21, following an announcemen to that effect by the British Government on Sunday nigh Sept. 20, and as a concurrent event the Bank of Englan rate of discount was advanced from 4½% to 6%, and th London Stock Exchange was closed, though only on Mo day, Sept. 21, and Tuesday, Sept. 22, it being reopened o Wednesday, Sept. 23. The statement given out by the Bri ish Government in explanation of the action taken made perfectly plain that there was really no alternative left t the Bank of England and the British Government but t let Great Britain pass off the gold standard, at least fo the time being. The credit of $250,000,000 which the Ban of England had obtained on the 1st of August ($125,000,00 being supplied in this country by the Federal Reserve bank and $125,000,000 coming from the Bank of France) wa virtually all used up, and so also was the $400,000,000 sup plied towards the close of August, one-half provided in thi country by a syndicate of American bankers headed b J. P. Morgan & Co. and $200,000,000 more supplied to one half its amount by the Bank of France and the other hal by the French public. In other words, the Bank of Englan and the British Government had obtained, together, $650 000,000 (the $400,000,000 credit was extended to the Britis Government, while the earlier credit was to the Bank o England) of outside cash resources, and yet it availe nothing in checking the outflow of capital and of gol withdrawals of both continuing uninterrupted, the onl effect being to stave off, for the time being, what wa inevitable in the end. The British Government, in givin the reasons which led to its momentous decision, pointe out that since the middle of the previous July funds amount ing to more than £200,000,000 (about $1,000,000,000) ha been withdrawn from the London market. The withdraw als were met, it was stated, partly from gold and foreig currency held by the Bank of England, partly from proceed of a credit of £50,000,000 (approximately $250,000,000 which was shortly to mature, obtained by the Bank o England from New York and Paris, and partly from pro ceeds of French and American credits amounting to £80, 000,000 (approximately $400,000,000) obtained by the Gov ernment. It was also pointed out that, during the few day immediately preceding, withdrawals of foreign balances ha accelerated so sharply that His Majesty's Government fel bound to take the step determined upon. Phillip Snowden the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in his speech presenting the Gold Suspension Act to Parliament, went somewha further into the details, and in referring to the accelerating pace of the withdrawals, remarked that on Wednesday Sept. 16, the withdrawals had been $25,000,000; on Thurs day, Sept. 17, $50,000,000, and on Friday, Sept. 18, nearly $90,000,000. Mr. Snowden took pains to state that the Gov ernment's action would not affect the free gold market o London. There would be no restrictions on the importa tion or exportation of gold and gold sent to London for sale For example, the gold from South African mines would like other commodities, fix the market price, whatever that might be. Also there would be no impediment placed upon the free withdrawal of gold which had been put into the safe custody of the Bank of England by foreign Governments or by foreign central banks. Likewise all obligations would be respected. Thus where there was obligation to make payment in dollars, as for example the war bonds issued in New York, payment would be made punctually in such currencies. All that was to be changed was to eliminate for the time being Subsection 2 of Section 1 of the British Gold Standard Act of 1925, reading: "The Bank of England shall be bound to sell to any person who makes demand, in that behalf, at the head office of the Bank, during office hours of the Bank, and pays the purchase price in any legal tender, gold bullion at the price of £3 17s. 10½d.

per ounce troy gold of the standard of fineness prescribed for gold coin by the Coinage Act of 1870, but only in the form of bars containing approximately 400 ounces troy of fine gold."

Prior to the action in doing what was tantamount to a suspension of the gold standard sterling exchange at New York was well maintained, though a sagging tendency became manifest towards the close of the period referred to as withdrawals from the Bank of England proceeded at an accelerating pace. Cable transfers on London on Sept. 1 and Sept. 2 sold at 4.86⅛@4.86 3/16, and as late as Sept. 17 sterling still sold at 4.86. On Friday, Sept. 18, the range was 4.85 23/32 to 4.85 15/16. On Saturday, however, there was a drop to $4.84½. On announcement of gold suspension no attempt was made to prevent a slump, and sterling was allowed to find its own level. On Sept. 21, the day of suspension, cable transfers ranged between $4.04 and $4.32¾ as against $4.86⅝, the par of exchange. Sight bills on the same day ranged between $4.25 and $3.70. On Sept. 22 the range for cable transfers was from $4.12 to $4.24, and on Sept. 23 the range was from $4.09 to $4.14¾. But on Sept. 24 there was a decline to $3.80@$3.94½, and on Friday, Sept. 25, the range was from $3.85 down to $3.50. This last proved to be the low point of the month, though sight bills on the same day sold down to $3.49. The exchange market, however, was badly demoralized, and it is quite possible that some sales were at lower figures, since rates all the time were wide apart among different bankers at the same moment of time. One newspaper report stated that sales on Sept. 25 had been made as low as $3.46. On Saturday, Sept. 26, rates were somewhat better, though Saturday is always a day of light business. The range for cable transfers on that day narrowed down to $3.79@$3.87, though on Monday, Sept. 28, there was an increase again to $3.92@$3.83. The last two days of the month there was recovery, with greater steadiness, the range for cable transfers Sept. 29 being $3.85@$3.92, and Sept. 30 $3.89@$3.93¾.

The Bank of England's fiduciary note issue, which was on Aug. 1 increased by £15,000,000, raising it from £260,000,000 to £275,000,000, was allowed to remain at the latter figure. The increase was originally authorized only for a period of three weeks, but authority was then given to extend it for a further period of three weeks, and on Sept. 12 authority was granted for another extension of three weeks. In a speech made by Chancellor Snowden, on Sept. 11, and broadcast, he made a vigorous retort to the attack of the Socialists on bankers in Great Britain, saying: "If all the facts were known the country would be eternally grateful to the Bank of England for the effort made to avert and overcome the threatened crisis, not in their own selfish interests, as some people are saying, but rather to fulfill their duty as custodians of the British credit." A cable dispatch from London, Sept. 28, to the New York "Times" stated that according to the figure under which the British Post Office was then operating a one-pound money order was calculated to yield $3.60 in the United States. This would be amended, it was stated, from time to time, depending on exchange.

It was noted above that the London Stock Exchange had been closed on Monday, Sept. 21, and Tuesday, Sept. 22. With the reopening of the Exchange on Sept. 23, after a two-day cessation from trading, London advices stated that a spirited rise in security prices had made unnecessary the restrictions set by dealers who had agreed on a minimum price for British Government issues, while trading circles were already discussing "the favorable effects of the automatic tariff created by the lower exchange value of sterling." It was stated, however, that the local financial situation was somewhat obscured by the Treasury's embargo placed on foreign exchange transactions except for normal trading needs; also that the Stock Exchange had posted a notice that purchases of securities abroad entailing purchases of foreign currencies came within the Treasury's prohibition order. This, it was stated, curtailed arbitrage business. The conditions under which foreign exchange could be purchased by British subjects were fixed as follows under the order of the British Government: (1) For purposes of normal trading requirements; (2) to fulfill contracts entered into before the suspension of the gold standard, and (3) for reasonable travel and other personal purposes. Britons were urged to refrain from foreign travel, and those at present abroad were urged to return home. At the same time it was stated that London department stores had virtually ceased buying foreign luxury goods. The most important action with reference to the London Stock Exchange was that effective Sept. 26 all transactions on the London Stock Exchange had to be made for cash and settled daily. Option business was prohibited. Settlements previously had been made every two weeks.

The Bank of England weekly returns showed irregular changes in gold holdings. The statement for the week ending Sept. 9 revealed a gain in gold holdings of £1,537,817 following a gain of £1,023,620 in the week ending Sept. 2. In the week ended Sept. 16, however, a loss of £325,992 appeared, and in the week ending Sept. 23 the Bank lost £1,906,624 more of gold. This was the week of the suspension of gold payments. The next week, the week ended Sept. 30, the Bank reported a gain of £1,186,066. The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in its "Monthly Review," reaches the conclusion that the Bank of England increased its gold holdings by about $7,500,000 during September. The principal acquisitions, it says, included the purchase of $10,000,000 South African gold in the market, the receipt of $2,750,000 in sovereigns from South Africa, and the release of $4,300,000 of gold from earmark. A total of $21,500,000, it says, with withdrawn from the Bank of England for shipment to Holland before the suspension of gold payments by the Bank was announced.

The gold movement into and out of the United States, which was of such spectacular proportions by reason of the enormous withdrawals of gold for export and for earmarking, and which constituted such a striking feature in affairs during the month second only to that of the action of the Bank of England in passing off the gold standard, is discussed as follows by the New York Federal Reserve Bank:

"During the month of September, earmarkings of gold for foreign central banks and exports to several European countries were considerably in excess of the amount of gold imported and resulted in a reduction of about $255,000,000 in the monetary gold stock of the United States, the largest monthly loss ever recorded. The earmarking transactions alone, chiefly consummated on and after Sept. 21, accounted for a net loss of $277,000,000 of gold. Withdrawals of gold for export in the second half of the month totaled $28,700,000, of which $23,600,000 went to France, $4,200,000 to Holland, $700,000 to Switzerland, and minor amounts to several other European countries. The actual exports of gold were more than offset by further imports totaling $46,000,000. Of this amount $25,700,000 was received at New York from Argentina, $6,300,000 from Canada. $3,600,000 from Mexico, $2,900,000 from Colombia, and $2,000,000 from Peru, while $3,500,000 arrived at San Francisco from China. Notwithstanding the large loss of gold in September, the monetary gold stock of this country still shows a gain of about $145,000,000 for the year to date."

The Irish Free State felt the influence of the British action the same as the rest of the world. The Dublin Stock Exchange was closed on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 21 and Sept. 22, respectively, the same as the London Stock Exchange, and reopened on Wednesday, Sept. 23. There was considerable discussion as to what course Ireland should pursue in the circumstances. A speech at Limerick by President Cosgrove, suggesting that the Free State should follow sterling and abandon the gold standard raised an outcry by his political opponents, who demanded the establishment of Irish currency, covered by a gold standard reserve, with a central bank in Dublin to make the currency completely independent of that of England. It was pointed out that the Free State was in somewhat of a dilemma because of the British gold suspension in the payment of interest on the indebtedness of the Free State. When the second National loan was issued by the Free State £4,000.000 was raised in New York and £4,000,000 in Dublin. Free State investors bought back most of the New York issue, with the result that £6,500,000 of the loan is now held in Ireland. As a consequence of the drop in the value of sterling the Free State Government, it was contended, loses a substantial sum in the payment of interest to the American holders. The Irish Free State Bank on Sept. 25 advanced its rate of discount from 5½% to 6½%.

Canada suffered no less seriously from the suspension of gold payments by Great Britain than Great Britain itself, and from the general demoralization of the foreign exchanges all over the world that followed as the result of that act. Canadian exchange had ruled at a discount long before the troubles which developed in September. The Dominion, being a large exporter of wheat, found the low price commanded by that grain in the markets of the world a serious adverse feature, and the discount of Canadian exchange at New York kept steadily growing larger as the month advanced, until the Canadian dollar on Saturday, Sept. 19, just before Great Britain took its decisive step, was at a discount as high as 2½%. The following Monday, Sept. 21, with the announcement of what had happened in England, the discount on the Canadian dollar ran from 3½% to 7%, and on Sept. 22 it varied from 8½% to 9%. On Sept. 23 the discount dropped to 6%, and on Sept. 24 it ruled at 6½%, but after that the depreciation kept steadily increasing, day by day, until on Sept. 30 the discount ranged from 12½% to 14¼%. Owing to this huge depreciation in the Canadian unit, sterling exchange in Canada ruled higher than in New York. Great efforts were made to prevent exports of gold from the Dominion to this country, but some outflow of the metal could not be escaped, with exchange running so strongly against the Dominion, and the New York Federal Reserve Bank reports $6,300,000 gold having reached the United States from the Dominion during September, most of this having been received the latter part of the month. Canadian press advices from Ottawa, Sept. 20, stated that the Government of Canada purposed maintaining the gold standard. That, it was stated, was the brief statement of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, the Prime Minister and Acting Minister of Finance, when informed of the news from London of the suspension in Great Britain of the Gold Redemption Act. "What Great Britain may do is for the Government of Great Britain to determine," said Mr. Bennett. "As for Canada we propose to maintain the gold standard." However, the depreciation of the Canadian dollar proved a serious matter, and in Buffalo and other points in northern New York, where Canadian money is wont to circulate freely, retailers refused to accept Canadian currency because of its high discount. Following legislation passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament, the Canadian Government arranged to take over the royal mint at Ottawa. Associated Press advices from Toronoto, Sept. 21, quoted the Toronto "Star" as saying that the larger Canadian gold producers had been requested by the Dominion Government to forward to the mint at Ottawa gold bullion shipments which ordinarily would be sent to a United States mint because of the discount on Canadian funds. "It is understood this request does not involve an embargo on gold shipments from Canada," the "Star" was reported as saying, "but is merely made as a temporary measure to strengthen the Government position at this time. The producers themselves, an official of one of the large mines states, are anxious to co-operate with the Government in this matter. Ottawa advices, Sept. 27, stated that the Canadian Government had taken steps to protect Canadian industry from the effects on imports into Canada of the depreciation both of the pound sterling and the Canadian dollar, adding:

"Instructions will go out to-morrow to all collectors of customs that where an invoice of goods imported into Canada is payable in a currency now depreciated the value, for duty purposes, shall be increased by a percentage equal to the percentage of depreciation.

"The decision affects imports from Great Britain and, on the other hand, where currency is at a premium, as is that of the United States, the amount of the premium shall be added to the invoice of imports to Canada from that source."

With reference to the foregoing, Associated Press advices from Niagara Falls, under date of Oct. 1, published in the New York "Evening Post," said:

The situation was bad enough from the "exchange" angle alone, and now the Canadian Government, to prevent dumping of foreign goods in the Canadian market, has fixed a tariff on American goods equivalent to the difference in value between the Canadian and American dollar, or 15%.

The result is an article quoted a Canadian customer at $100 by an American establishment will yield the seller only $70 if he accepts Canadian money, as the rate of exchange will cut $15 from his money when he changes it into American money, and then he will have to pay a tariff of $15 to get the article into Canada.

Merchants report business with Canadians has dropped to almost nothing this week. In the past the Canadian trade was considerable.

Restrictions on trading were imposed by the Stock Exchanges at both Montreal and Toronto with the news of what had happened in Great Britain but were quickly abolished. See Financial Chronicle Sept. 26 1931, p. 2011.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

The Continental exchanges all became deeply unsettled as a result of the action of Great Britain and some of them became very badly demoralized, though an exception must be made of France and Switzerland, and, to some extent, also of Belgium, in which countries rates, after some halt when the British crisis reached an acute stage, moved sharply upward. The scramble for gold on the part of many of the European countries which found expression in the enormous withdrawals of gold from the New York Federal Reserve Bank for earmarking and for export became an important feature in the course of exchange rates after the British action in abandoning the gold standard and it is believed no little of the gold takings reflected foreign withdrawals of capital and funds from the United States. There appeared to be a vague fear that what happened in Germany and England might also happen in the United States, notwithstanding the large gold holdings here. The fact that the Federal Reserve System had large sums tied up in the credits extended to Great Britain, Germany and other countries served in no small measure to encourage these fears. The French franc, however, was deemed to hold an impregnable position, and after some temporary weakening at the time of the British suspension, French exchange at New York moved up with great rapidity the latter part of the month, far above the gold export point, thus permitting the heavy export shipment of the metal to France which occurred. The Federal Reserve bank made the actual shipment to France during September $23,600,000, but large further amounts were engaged during the early days of October, the takings for France on Thursday, Oct. 1, being $6,370,000 and the takings on Friday, Oct. 2, $32,580,000, besides which heavy further amounts were taken later in October. In the general break on Sept. 21 cable transfers to Paris temporarily touched 3.90 as against 3.92 9/32 on Sept. 1, but the next day it had recovered to 3.94, and after some erratic fluctuations on Sept. 24 moved up to 3.95½ on Sept. 25 and was 3.94@3.94¾ Sept. 30.

A Paris cablegram on Sept. 21 to the New York "Times" stated that the Paris Bourse was the only Stock Exchange open in Europe on that day, and that the decision to keep the Bourse open had been reached early that day after a hurried meeting of Finance Minister Flandin, Governor Moret of the Bank of France and representatives of the Bourse. Though some feared that the opening of the Bourse when all other European Exchanges were closed might provoke a wave of selling, the result, it was stated, largely justified the confidence of those who decided it should open as usual. There was no panic and the inevitable decline was not, in the opinion of the Bourse experts, disproportionate. The biggest losers were, it was declared, big Paris banks, principally the Bank of France, which held more than $1,000,000,000 worth of assets of various forms abroad, of which it was believed about half was in sterling. The Bank of France shares dropped from 14,290 francs to 12,500. Credit Lyonnais shares dropped 200 francs, and Bank de Paris shares fell 222. The only restrictions on Bourse operations were that there should be no quotations for sterling and that there should be strict application of the conditions controlling future operations laid down at the beginning of the year. These regulations carry the obligation not to accept any forward selling order which is not clearly intended to cover a purchase operation and is not accompanied by a 40% currency cover. Finance Minister Flandin also obtained an agreement that cash selling orders should not be accepted without justification. It appears that another restriction was the halting of trading in all issues after they had suffered losses of 10%. On Sept. 30 Associated Press accounts from Paris said that the brokers' syndicate that had control of the operations of stocks on the Paris Bourse had issued an order on that day designed to prevent short selling. The order specified that future operations would require the depositing of the stock offered or a 40% coverage plus a quarter of the stock offered, or proof of possession. The Bank of France for the week ending Sept. 5 reported an increase in its gold holdings of 4,730,523 francs; in the week ending Sept. 12 an increase of 9,077,519 francs, but in the week ending Sept. 19 revealed a loss in gold of 1,633,822 francs, followed by a gain of no less than 771,007,348 francs, and another gain of 467,000,000 francs in the week ending Oct. 3.

The Belgian unit also gave a good account of itself. It broke sharply on the fatal Monday, Sept. 21, and remained depressed for a few days, but then advanced with great rapidity. The course of the Belga was more or less irregular, with frequent downward dips even before Sept. 21. Thus cable transfers on Antwerp, after selling at 13.93½@13.94 Sept. 1, were as low as 13.90½@13.91 Sept. 11, and 13.90¾@13.91 Sept. 16 and Sept. 17, but on Sept. 19 were back to 13.94. In the break on Sept. 21 a low of 13.89 was reached on that day, and of 13.85 Sept. 22, but on Sept. 24 the rate was up again to 13.95, and on Sept. 30 the range was 13.98@14.00.

There was considerable speculation as to what country was responsible for the large gold earmarkings at the Federal Reserve Bank which reached during the month an aggregate of $277,000,000. The general belief at first was that France was the responsible party. Views subsequently changed, however, when the National Bank of Belgium, in its statement for the week ending Sept. 24, showed that its entire foreign exchange holdings had been converted into gold, with the increase in its gold holdings in that week amounting to 4,331,000,000 Belgian francs, or $120,401,800, raising the Bank's gold reserves to 12,160,000,000 Belgian francs, or $338,000,000. Both the Brussels and the Antwerp Bourses were closed down on Sept. 21, the same as nearly all other stock markets of the world. The Brussels Exchange opened at noon Sept. 22, but for cash operations only. Earlier in the month, that is, on Sept. 9, an Associated Press cablegram quoted Paul Vanzeeland, Director of the Belgian National Bank and Secretary of the Belgian Economic Council, as saying he considered Belgium's economic status the most secure in all Europe. On Sept. 18 it was reported that the Brussels Bourse had suspended put and call and other conditional operations in an effort to curb speculation and control to some extent the decline in prices. The Belgian Embassy, on the basis of an official dispatch from Brussels, denied on Sept. 29 rumors prevalent in New York financial circles that Belgium would abandon the gold standard. On the contrary, the Embassy said, the gold standard policy would be rigidly adhered to. The Belgian Government considered its first duty to be adherence to the gold standard, it was added. The present gold coverage of note issue was 65.05, the highest in history, it was stated.

The German reichsmark showed a weakening tendency almost all through September, with special weakness following Great Britain's drop from the gold standard, but with recovery again at the very close of the month. Cable transfers on Berlin on Sept. 1 were 23.72@23.75, and on Sept. 23 sold at a range of 22.50@23.65, and Sept. 30 were 23.35@23.81. The Berlin Boerse, which had been closed since early in July, was reopened on Sept. 3, the first day's trading witnessing a drop in stock quotations of from 25% to 40%, with bonds declining only slightly less. A Berlin cablegram, Sept. 3, to the New York "Times," in noting this, stated that pessimistic predictions were exceeded in the market, offers exceeding demands to such an extent that for nearly all stocks an extensive rationing of offers was necessary to arrive at any quotations. All German Exchanges, except that of Hamburg, it was stated, reported slumps like that in Berlin. Stocks declined an average of 17 points, and bonds fell 13 points. Prices, however, subsequently improved, and Berlin advices, Sept. 8, stated that, gratified by the firmer price tendencies on the Berlin Boerse, the authorities would permit "variable trading" in several leading stock issues to be resumed on Thursday, Sept. 10. This would permit, it was stated, the maintenance of a continuous market in such stocks, as compared with the single official quotation previously permitted, and at which offers were rationed among the available bids. The Berlin Boerse, however, was again closed on Sept. 21, and remained closed for the remainder of the month. It was announced on Sept. 28 that upon the request of the Federal and Prussian Governments and the Directorate of the Reichsbank, stock exchanges throughout Germany would remain closed for an indefinite period. The Bank of Germany, in its return for the first quarter of September, revealed a gain in gold holdings of 4,433,000 marks, in the second quarter a gain of 1,564,000 marks, in the third quarter a gain of 2,331,000 marks, but in the final quarter suffered a loss of no less than 73,620,000 marks. The Bank of Germany on Sept. 2 reduced its discount rate from 10% to 8%, and its Lombard or security rate from 12% to 10%. The Bank of Danzig on Sept. 1 reduced from 7% to 6%. The Hungarian National Bank on Sept. 10 reduced from 9% to 8%, and the Bank of Estonia on Sept. 1 dropped from 7% to 6½%. On the other hand, the National Bank of Greece on Sept. 26 raised its rate from 9% to 12%, and on Sept. 29 the Bulgarian National Bank advanced from 8½% to 9½%. The Bank of Czechoslovakia moved up its rate from 5% to 6½% on Sept. 22, and the Bank of Italy advanced from 5½% to 7% the latter part of September.

Doubtless the most important event of the month as far as Germany was concerned was the adoption of the Stillhaltung agreement which guarantees to Germany for a period of six months from September 1931 the maintenance of all the foreign banking credit in use by German banks as of July 31 1931. The committee of American bankers who had been negotiating this Stillhaltung agreement made the announcement that the agreement had been signed by authorized representatives of all countries involved, and that the agreement had gone into effect as of Sept. 17 1931. The agreement, according to newspaper reports, involved total loans and credits of $1,300,000,000, of which $650,000,000 are American. Ot the latter, $350,000,000, it was stated, are acceptance credits held by American banks. The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in its "Monthly Review" for Oct. 1, discussed this agreement as follows:

"Elsewhere than in England, the most important event in the field of credit was the signing on Sept. 17, by all the interested parties, of the so-called Stillhaltung Agreement between foreign creditors and German debtors in respect of short-term foreign banking accommodation extended to Germany. The agreement will run for six months from Sept. 1 1931, and guarantees Germany, during this period, the maintenance of all the foreign banking credit actually in use by German banks on July 31 1931. The funds specifically excepted from the maintenance provisions of the agreement are (1) reichsmark balances held in German banks in the names of the foreign parties to the agreement, and (2) funds required in settlement of overdue and/or maturing forward foreign exchange contracts between the parties to the agreement. The latter become payable on maturity and transferable into foreign currencies at the will of foreign creditor; of the reichsmark balances, 25% of the total may be withdrawn and transferred abroad within the first month after signature of contracts between individual creditors and debtors, and thereafter 15% becomes so available each month until the balance is exhausted. It is provided, however, that if the Reichsbank represents to the Bank for International Settlements that the transfer of these funds abroad imperils the position of the reichsmark exchange, such transfer may be postponed from month to month within the life of the Stillhaltung Agreement."

Owing to persistent rumors that Germany would follow England in suspending the gold exchange standard, Chancellor Bruening left the French statesmen who were visiting Germany in one of Berlin's museums in order to tell the members of the League of Savings Banks, in a brief and forceful address, that Germany's future was firmly linked to a gold currency. The address was broadcast on a nation-wide hook-up. "The Government and the Reichsbank will do their utmost to maintain the stability of the currency," Dr. Bruening said. "Whoever is able to and wants to save will be protected from depreciation of his savings. Only through the maintenance of the currencies can German business be kept on a straight road."

The Austrian Government, at the conclusion of a Cabinet meeting on Sept. 21, following news of Great Britain's gold suspension action, ordered the Austrian National Bank and other institutions not to sell foreign exchange. The purchase by private individuals of foreign currency warrants or drafts was also forbidden.

The Italian lira was well maintained until the time of Great Britain's suspension of the gold standard, but after that weakened very decidedly, notwithstanding the assurances of the Italian Government that Italy would remain on a gold basis. Cable transfers on Italy on Sept. 19 were 5.23⅛, the same as on Sept. 1, and during the whole of the period up to that time the range of the fluctuations was between that figure and 5.23. On Sept. 21, however, there was a drop from 5.23 to 5.10; there was partial recovery the next day, and the range on Sept. 23 was between 5.23 and 5.05. The range, though, still remained above 5.00 until Sept. 28, when there was a drop to 4.91, the range for that day being 4.91 to 5.15. On Sept. 29 there was a further decline, with the range 4.85@5.10¼. Then there was some recovery again, with the range Sept. 30 5.10@5.15. On Sept. 22 the Italian Minister of Finance sent instructions to all Ambassadors to announce that the Italian stabilization point of 5.26c. to the lira would remain unchanged. The action was taken, cablegrams said, to set at rest rumors from Geneva and elsewhere that the lira was badly affected and that its stabilization point or its gold standard might be changed. The abandonment of the gold standard by the Scandinavian countries on Sept. 28 brought the subject afresh, and on Sept. 29 Premier Benito Mussolini himself telegraphed to Italian diplomatic and Counselor representatives abroad requesting them to deny "once more and in the most categorical manner in all places and to everyone" that the Italian Government has any intention of altering the exchange rate of the lira as fixed by the law of Dec. 31 1927. In other words, he declared most emphatically that the exchange value of the lira would be retained at 19 to the dollar. That determined efforts to maintain the Italian unit were being made appeared from numerous news dispatches of one kind or another. United Press advices from Rome, Sept. 28, stated the Ministry of Finance had issued a decree prohibiting future selling of stocks of any kind without first depositing certificates or 25% coverage, and providing that futures buying orders must be accompanied by a 25% deposit. Associated Press cablegrams from Rome Sept. 29 stated that the Ministry of Finance had been empowered by royal decree on that day to regulate the exchange market and to enforce its rulings by penalties up to imprisonment in the penal colony on the Lipari Island. Associated Press accounts from Rome, Sept. 30, further stated that the Bank of Italy, by authority of the Ministry of Finance, had been tightening banking restrictions until now there was a virtual embargo on the export of gold, although no such embargo had been officially decreed. Dealings in foreign exchange, it was stated, were being limited to urgent business settlements. The obligation of the Bank of Italy to redeem bank notes in gold, or gold exchange, was still being maintained, but as such redemption was hedged about with difficulties there was practically no demand. Owing to the necessity of meeting a deficit in the State budget the Italian Government undertook to obtain additional revenue by increasing the customs tariff on all imported goods. A communique issued Sept. 25 announced that a 15% ad valorem duty would be levied on all imported goods in addition to the regular tariff.

The Greek drachma was well maintained, but moved somewhat lower, nevertheless. Cable transfers on Greece were 1.28½@1.29½ Sept. 30 against 1.29⅝ Sept. 1. The Greek Government on Sept. 25 decided to keep the Athens Stock Exchange closed until Oct. 5, according to Associated Press advices from Athens. As a result of the unprecedented difficulties on the Athens Stock Exchange and to business caused by the depreciation of sterling, members of the Stock Exchange decided on Sept. 28 to present a memorandum to the Government requesting the annulment of all Stock Exchange transactions carried out in the first 20 days of September. The request was grounded, it was stated in advices from Athens to the New York "Times," on the fact that as a result of the sudden fall of share values "not one member would be able to meet his obligations at the end of September and insolvencies would follow a further decline of share values." The Greek National Bank increased its discount rate from 9% to 12% on Sept. 26. Cablegrams to the New York "Times" from Athens on Sept. 26 stated that after a conference between Premier Venizelos and Representatives of the big banks it was announced the Greek Government had decided to repay all loans as they matured either in gold or in bills, as the lender preferred. It was added that service on loans in pound sterling would be according to London exchange quotations.

The Polish zloty showed only trifling fluctuations. From Warsaw came advices, Oct. 1, to the New York "Times" saying that the Polish Government was determined to keep up the present value of the zloty according to a declaration made by Premier Prystor in opening a new session of the Sejm. The Department of Commerce at Washington announced on Oct. 1 that Turkey had definitely abandoned the pound sterling in favor of the French gold franc as the stabilization basis for the Turkish pound, according to a radiogram received in the Department from Commercial Attache Frederick B. Lyon at Istanbul. Egypt suffered from the action of Great Britain the same as the rest of the world. On Sept. 27 the Egyptian Government decided to prohibit the export of gold, thereby, a Cairo cablegram to the New York "Times" said, taking Egypt off the gold standard. The Government also decided to raise the import duties on certain articles whose value had declined "owing to the fall of sterling." Washington advices said that Egypt had suspended the gold standard, according to officials representing that Government, because her trade was largely with Great Britain, and it was necessary, as well as convenient, to have the same money value.

In the case of exchange on the countries neutral during the war interest naturally centered on the course of the Dutch guilder. Holland was one of the countries which had been making large withdrawals of capital and taking considerable amounts of gold from London before Great Britain passed off the gold standard. An Amsterdam dispatch, Sept. 25, to the New York "Times" stated that the recall of Dutch balances from London in previous weeks, which resulted in London's heavy shipments of gold during that period to Amsterdam, was caused not primarily by the condition of the Dutch market, but by expectation among Dutch bankers that sterling would not be long maintained at par. The Bank of the Netherlands announced on Sept. 27 that it would unconditionally maintain the gold standard in Holland, and that its sterling balances abroad probably would not involve it in any loss. The Bank on Sept. 28 raised its rate of discount from 2% to 3%. The Bourse at Amsterdam was closed on Sept. 21 for one day because of the British situation. Holland is one of the countries which took large amounts of gold from New York the latter part of September and early in October, the same as it had previously been taking large amounts from London. Exports of the metal from the United States to Holland in September were $4,200,000. This was followed by exports of $917,400 for Holland on Oct. 1, $4,631,500 on Oct. 2, and $1,500,000 on Oct. 3, with further amounts subsequently in October. Cable transfers on Amsterdam showed a rising tendency most of the month, with an occasional downward dip after the British action regarding the gold standard. On Sept. 30 the range for cable transfers was 40.20@40.30 against 40.32¾40.33 on Sept. 1. A high point of 40.40 was reached on Sept. 23 and Sept. 24, and a low point of 39.90 Sept. 28. Switzerland is another country which began to take some amounts of gold from the United States (though not large) the latter part of September and continued the process early in October. Only $700,000 gold was taken for Switzerland in September, and this was followed by $137,000 on Oct. 1 and $148,600 Oct. 2. Swiss exchange was uninterruptedly strong prior to the British action and cable transfers were quoted at 19.55@19.56 Sept. 21 against 19.47@19.48 Sept. 1. On Sept. 22 the range fell to 19.38½@19.47 but the range Sept. 30 was 19.62@19.65.

All the Scandinavian countries suspended gold payments during the month. Both Sweden and Norway suspended the gold standard on Sunday, Sept. 27. Associated Press accounts from Stockholm on Sept. 27 stated that the Swedish State Council had decided that night to suspend the gold standard until Nov. 30 and the National Bank discount rate had been raised from 6% to 8%. Exportation of gold by any other than the Riksbank or foreign national banks was prohibited under the order and it was stated the State Bank would suspend gold payments until Nov. 30 unless a notice of resumption was given before that date. The National Bank of Sweden had previously moved up its rate, first from 4% to 5% on Sept. 21 and then to 6% on Sept. 24 and with the advance now to 8% the rate had actually been doubled. The Norwegian Government also took action to the same effect on Sunday, Sept. 27. Associated Press advices from Oslo, Sept. 27, stated that the decision had been reached at a Cabinet meeting held shortly before midnight. It was decided also to place an embargo on gold exports. An official statement said the Cabinet had decided to suspend temporarily the Bank of Norway's obligation to exchange notes for gold. At the same time the Bank's rediscount rate was advanced from 6% to 8%. The rate had previously been raised, first from 4% to 5% on Sept. 11 and then from 5% to 6% on Sept. 25. As to Denmark, after a week of indecision, with conflicting successive announcements as to what monetary course she would adopt, Denmark officially went off the gold standard on Sept. 28. Indicating that the action was taken at night a Copenhagen cablegram Sept. 28 to the New York "Times" went on to say that Premier Stauning, after a full day of negotiations with the National Bank, at midnight announced that following the suspension of the gold standard by Norway and Sweden it was obvious that Denmark could not any longer follow her former currency standard. An application from the National Bank to suspend gold redemption of notes was expected to be granted by a special sitting of Parliament early the next morning. The Minister of Commerce and a special currency committee appointed by Parliament would supervise dealings in currency and issue notes during the period of suspension which was to last until Dec. 1. The necessary legislation was rushed through both Houses of the Danish Parliament. Associated Press accounts from Copenhagen on Sept. 29 stated that the empowering bill had been introduced in the Folkething, the lower House, at 9 o'clock and passed in a few minutes. It then went to the Landsting where it was adopted as a matter of course. As late as Sept. 26 it had been reported that Denmark intended to adhere to the gold standard, Copenhagen advices saying that the Danish National Bank had officially announced its intention to adhere to gold parity, this notwithstanding that on Sept. 22 word came that the Danish Government had suspended the export of gold until further notice. The Copenhagen Stock Exchange apparently was closed on Sept. 21 to the end of the month, and the same appears to be true regarding the Stock Exchange at Stockholm and the Stock Exchange at Oslo, Norway. The National Bank of Denmark on Sept. 4 raised its discount rate from 3½% to 4½% and on Sept. 25 to 6%.

All the Scandinavian exchanges sharply declined during September, but enjoyed moderate recovery at the close of the month. The Danish crown on cable transfers dropped from 26.75 Sept. 1 to 19.20 Sept. 25 and sold Sept. 30 at 22.00@22.25. The Swedish crown showed considerable stability until after the announcement that Sweden also was to suspend gold payments. Cable transfers on Sweden as against 26.77½ Sept. 1, sold down to 24.60 Sept. 22 but quickly recovered to 26.65 Sept. 23 and were 26.25@26.50 on Saturday, Sept. 26. On the Swedish gold suspension, however, it dropped to 22.50 Sept. 28 and ranged Sept. 30 between 23.00 and 23.50. The Norwegian crown on cable transfers tumbled from 26.75 Sept. 1 to 21.75 Sept. 28 and sold at 22.25@22.50 Sept. 30.

Finland continued to adhere to the gold standard. On Sept. 23 according to a cablegram to the United Press from Helsingfors, Finland, the Bank of Finland announced that it would quote foreign currencies in dollars in the future. Under date of Sept. 29 an Associated Press cablegram from Helsingfors stated that the Finnish Riksbank declared on that date that it had no intention of following the example of Sweden and Norway in suspending the gold standard. After the close of the month a wireless message on Oct. 1 to the New York "Times" stated that the Finnish official discount rate had been raised from 6% to 7½% and that this step was regarded as a determined effort to avert the necessity of suspending the gold standard. In New York the Finnish Markka showed only trifling fluctuations, the range on checks for the whole month being comprised between 2.51½ and 2.52, which happened also to be the range for Sept. 30 and which compared with 2.51⅝@2.51¾ Sept. 1. From Riga, Latvia, an Associated Press cablegram Sept. 29 stated that it had been authoritatively announced on that day that the Latvian Government had no intention of suspending the gold standard.

The Spanish peseta does not seem to have been much affected by outside events and the fluctuations in it were relatively quite moderate, the range for cable transfers for the entire month running between 8.80 and 9.10 with the rate Sept. 30 9.00@9.05 as compared with 9.00@9.04 on Sept. 1. On Sept. 7 the Spanish Government gave orders that no Spaniards living in Spain might hold any foreign currency. The order delivered to the Banks by the Government read: "Communicate to your clients without losing a moment that in 4 days at most they must cede to the centre of exchange all foreign money, liquidating their current accounts in foreign currency. In case of resistance on the part of any of your clients, communicate with the Government immediately. It was pointed out that these foreign currency accounts run into millions of dollars, the Banco Hispano-Americano alone holding about $3,000,000 in foreign currency, and that henceforth all foreign currency received by individuals in Spain for sales of wine, fruit and other goods exported would have to be sold immediately to the Government. Press advices from Madrid, Sept. 26, stated that news of the suspension of the gold standard in England had caused stupefaction and consternation in Spain. It was pointed out that Spain had indirect liabilities or official credits against England and in that respect no grave consequences were feared, but that prompt measures of one sort and another were taken immediately by the Minister of Finance which included ordering the official central control of currency exchanges to cease operations and telegraphing the customs administration not to accept pounds in payment for that percentage of duties payable in money based in the gold standards, for which pounds had been acceptable. In future, checks in dollars and in French francs would be admitted. Associated Press advices from Madrid, Sept. 22, stated that the Madrid Bourse had reopened. In the case of Portugal Associated Press advices from Lisbon, Sept. 22, stated that financial circles in Lisbon had remained unperturbed by the British situation. The Bank of Portugal, after meetings Sept. 21 and Sept. 22, had "decided not to alter the existing exchange rate of the Escudo which was established July 1 at 110 to the pound sterling."

Exchange on South America, badly demoralized before, became still more demoralized during September, and it was very difficult to get quotations. The Argentine peso for cable transfers was quoted at 24.40@24½ Sept. 30 against 28.21@28¼ Sept. 1 and on Sept. 25 was as low as 23.75. The Brazilian milreis was 5.60 Sept. 30 against 6.25 Sept. 1. Associated Press advices from Buenos Aires Sept. 30 said that Argentina had changed to the dollar on that day from the pound as the basis for calculating European exchange. The Banco de Nacion said exchanges on Continental countries remaining on a gold basis were being figured on the basis of 1.80 gold pesos to the dollar. Montevideo advices Sept. 25 to the New York "Times" announced that Argentine banks for the first time in recent history had discarded sterling as the standard in international exchange and had adopted dollars as the basic currency. "A gentlemen's agreement among Buenos Aires banks kept the quotation on dollars unchanged to-day at Thursday's (Sept. 24) agreed rate of 180 gold pesos per $100, making the paper peso worth 24.45c. as compared with the par of 42.46c." It was reported on Sept. 16 that arrangements had been completed for meeting the $50,000,000 of Argentine Government one year notes that were to mature on Oct. 1, partly by the refunding of about one-half the issue by local bankers and American business interests and partly by the shipment to the United States of about $25,000,000 in gold. The New York "Times" sent reference to the matter.

Brown Brothers Harriman & Co. and a group of New York banks will subscribe to a private issue of $20,000,000 of new 6% notes, constituting an external loan, maturing in six and nine months, and there is already on the sea, en route to New York, $20,000,000 more in gold from the Argentine to meet an additional part of the obligation.

The remaining $10,000,000 falling due will be met by a further shipment of gold, which will probably leave Rio de Janeiro on Sept. 21, and by an internal loan subscribed to voluntarily by certain American business interests in that country, which in turn have transferred their subscriptions to a dollar loan in New York above the $20,000,000 loan arranged by the Brown Brothers Harriman group.

The subscription by American business interests in Argentina is expected to amount to about half the remaining $10,000,000, leaving about $5,000,000 in gold to be shipped and reducing to about $25,000,000 the total amount of gold shipped to meet the obligation.

The external loan was authorized at 118,000,000 pesos, or the equivalent of $50,000,000, but not all of this was issued. The loan is made up of six months 6% notes, and the dollar loan to which the American interests transferred their subscriptions is of the same denomination.

Presumably as a result of the carrying out of this arrangement, $25,700,000 gold was received at New York from Argentine during September. The Committee on Securities of the New York Stock Exchange gave notice on Sept. 10 that Brazil found itself obliged temporarily to suspend application of sinking fund on external bond issues owing to the fall in Brazilian exchange which had resulted from prevailing economic conditions. This was followed by announcement from the Brazilian Government on Sept. 19 that "An extraordinary depression in the exchange rates, determined by various internal conditions, as well as by the situation of the world, makes it impossible for the Brazilian Government to aquire foreign exchange to meet the total interest on its foreign debt. For this reason, the Government has arranged with its correspondents in London to study a plan to regulate temporarily this situation, allowing some relief to the exchange market." United Press advices from Rio de Janeiro Sept. 21 stated that the Director of the Department of Currency had announced that night that Brazilian currency exchange henceforth would be based on the dollar instead of the pound sterling. The State of Pernambuco defaulted on interest due on an issue of about $5,300,000 outstanding in this market.

Following a two-day cabinet meeting in Rio de Janeiro the Brazilian Government (according to Sao Paulo advices Sept. 29 to the New York "Times") placed all exchange operations in control of the Bank of Brazil with authority to regulate buying and selling rates. All other banks must conduct their exchange operations through the Bank of Brazil, the message said, besides adding that Finance Minister Whitaker had denied that a 30-day foreign exchange moratorium would be declared, asserting that the new exchange regulations had obviated this. The New York Stock Exchange gave notice that the loans of the Republic of Chile had defaulted payment of the Sept. 1 interest due on loans dealt in in this market. It will be recalled that in August the Chilean Government gave notice of the suspension of payment on all foreign debts for the rest of 1931. The Bolivian Congress on Sept. 25 approved a law permitting the central bank to suspend gold payments for a period of 30 days or longer if the Government deemed a longer period necessary. A cablegram from Montevideo to the New York "Times" Sept. 27 said that the Paraguayan Chamber of Commerce, meeting in Asuncion the day before, had recommended that its members cease importing from the United States and Europe and buy from Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay to avoid losses, as the exchange ratio between the Argentine and Paraguayan currencies is fixed by law. The Uruguayan Congress passed a law early in September authorizing the Bank of the Republic to export 5,000,000 pesos worth of gold (the equivalent of $5,175,000) of which 3,000,000 is to be used to pay interest and service charges on the foreign debt falling due in October, November and December.

In exchange on the Far East the feature was the spectacular rise in the price of silver which occurred on the announcement of the British Government's action in suspending gold payments. The price had been fluctuating in the neighborhood of 13 pence per ounce and was quoted at 12-15/16 pence on Saturday, Sept. 19. On Monday, Sept. 21, there was a rise to 14⅜ pence, on Tuesday, Sept. 22, to 15⅜ pence and Wednesday, Sept. 23, to 16¼ pence, then after a reaction to 15⅞ pence Sept. 24, the price Sept. 25 mounted to 19½ pence but dropped back to 16⅜ pence on Saturday, Sept. 26, and ruled at 16-3/16 pence Sept. 30. This rise in silver had the effect of advancing exchange rates on all the silver-using countries, though rates re-acted again when the price of silver moved lower once more. The Hong-Kong dollar after rising from 23⅞ Sept. 2 to 26-3/16 Sept. 25 was back to 24⅛@24-9/16 Sept. 30. Shanghai Tael for checks after moving up from 29⅞ Sept. 2 to 34 Sept. 25, ruled at 30⅝@31⅛ Sept. 30. The Japanese yen was very little affected by GreatBritain's decision regarding gold. Checks on Yokohama ruled between 49.35 and 49.50 up to Sept. 21 when the range dropped to 48-13/16@49½, but there was quick recovery and Sept. 30 the range was 49⅛@49½. Rupees on Bombay were quoted at 35.95@36, but dropped to 28.94 on Sept. 25 and was the same on Sept. 30. Suspension of the statutory obligation to sell sterling or gold against rupees was announced on Sept. 21 by Sir George Schuster, Finance Minister of the Government of India. The Imperial Bank of India on Sept. 22 advanced its discount rate from 7% to 8%. All banks throughout India were closed Sept. 23 and the Stock Exchanges Sept. 21. Reopening occurred Sept. 25. The Indian Government increased the duty on imports of silver by 1½ annas per ounce, making the new duty 7½ annas or about 15c. an ounce. The Government of the Union of South Africa officially announced that it had no intention of departing from the gold standard according to a cablegram received in the Department of Commerce at Washington from Commercial Attache Samuel H. Day at Johannesburg.

In view of the numerous changes in discount rates by the different central banks of the world, we reproduce the following table prepared by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, giving also the bank's introduction to the same:

Central Bank Rate Changes.

During September 13 European Central banks changed their discount rates. Reductions were reported in the first part of the month by the four banks listed in the first group of the following table, reflecting the relaxation in Central Europe of the strain experienced at the peak of the summer credit crisis. The increases shown in the second part of the table were practically all a consequence of the developments in Great Britain, although part of the rate increases shown for Denmark and Norway occurred prior to the Bank of England rate change on Sept. 21. The third part of the table shows the principal European Central banks whose discount rates remained unchanged during September.

Outside of Europe, the only Central bank to change its rate during September was the Imperial Bank of India, whose rate was advanced from 7 to 8% on Sept. 22.

The tables on pages 16 to 38 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during September and range since January 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

REVIEW OF SEPTEMBER—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

The overshadowing event during September was the suspension by Great Britain of the normal gold payments with the consequent depreciation of sterling exchange to far under the usual levels. This development was followed on Sept. 28 by similar gold payment suspensions on the part of Sweden Norway and Denmark while Egypt also passed off the gold standard. These events and the incidents leading up to them combine to make the month one of exceptional gravity in international affairs. Apprehensions fostered by the spectacular moves have since been reflected in extremely heavy gold withdrawals from New York by European central and other banks. Gold actually exported or set aside under earmark at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in the period from the British gold suspension until and including Oct. 2 amounted to the huge sum of $372,926,000. It is plain that depletion of foreign balances in New York would soon put an end to withdrawals on this scale even if the tendency to continue the action persists. They are cited here to illustrate the financial fears engendered by the British and Scandinavian gold suspensions.

It would be difficult to exaggerate the importance of the British Government decision announced to the world Sunday night Sept. 20 to suspend temporarily the normal gold payments by the Bank of England. The critical nature of the decision was reflected in a two-day closing of the Stock Exchange at London and suspension of trading on almost all European exchanges with the exception of the Paris Bourse. At Paris measures were taken to limit losses in quotations of securities, a ruling being issued immediately that stocks showing a loss of 10% would be removed from trading for the remainder of the day. Even in New York drastic repercussions were clearly foreshadowed and, as related elsewhere in this issue, it was considered advisable to forbid short selling on Sept. 21 and Sept. 22. The first reaction on securities values was, of course, profoundly unsettling, but after a few wide swings in both directions prices on the open exchanges quickly settled into the usual routine and restrictions were lifted. The London exchange reopened Sept. 23, but a ruling was later issued for daily settlements, or in other words for cash transactions only, in order to curtail speculation. The Berlin Boerse, which only reopened Sept. 3 after closing on July 13, when the Central European credit crisis became acute in Germany, was again closed by official order and reopening was not announced by the end of September.

The importance of Great Britain as an international money centre made the lapse from the gold standard a peculiarly unfortunate one, however unavoidable the action may have been. A long train of ill consequences was clearly foreshadowed by the development, and the subequent lapses of Scandinavia and Egypt from their customary gold bases are to be viewed in this light. Among the immediate practical results was a sharp drop in sterling exchange, which fell as low as $3.70 Sept. 21. Canadian dollars promptly fell to a heavy discount at New York, while many other exchanges also were unsettled. All the phenomena usually associated with depreciation of currency began to make themselves felt in England, and the effects have been increasingly apparent in rising prices of the great import staples and in sharp movements on the London Stock Exchange. Political consequences of importance also have made their appearance.

Although the more immediate causes of the British crisis are predominantly political and financial in nature, the general state of trade in recent years also was a factor of much importance. Sustained pressure has been exerted against sterling for the past year or two, and this occasioned a large outflow of gold from the country, with the fresh arrivals from South Africa and Australia an insufficient offset. The outflow of funds from London was ceaseless, with new foreign loan commitments an important item. There were also heavy withdrawals from time to time of the French funds deposited in the British centre during the period preceding stabilization of the franc. Most experts believe that a further immense movement resulted from a prolonged flight of British capital from the country in the endeavor to escape the burdensome taxes and any capital levy that might be attempted by the Labor Government of England.

The outward movement was suddenly intensified in mid-July, when the Central European financial crisis caused a wave of unsettlement and distrust to sweep over the entire world. After losing about $175,000,000 in gold during the latter half of that month, the Bank of England arranged a $250,000,000 credit with the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve banks on Aug. 1, each country supplying half the amount. Unfortunately, the report of the special Government Economy Committee made its appearance at the same same time, and as this document revealed an impending budgetary deficit of about $580,000,000, confidence in the Labor Government and the pound sterling was further shaken. There followed, late in August, the fall of the Labor Government and the formation of the present National Cabinet under Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald. Private banking credits amounting to $400,000,000 were granted the British Treasury Aug. 28 by French and American interests, each country again furnishing half the amount. But again the credits proved insufficient, owing to a mammoth outflow of funds that followed manifestations of British sailors in the Atlantic fleet against reductions of their compensation.

The new National Government which was formed late in August by all three important British parties, undertook with admirable promptness the difficult and painful task of balancing the budget and restoring international confidence in sterling. Parliament was reconvened for a special session on Sept. 8, and an ample vote of confidence was promptly granted Prime Minister MacDonald and his associates. In order to speed the needed reforms a bill was introduced Sept. 9 authorizing the Government to put economies into effect by order in council, or decrees. This also was quickly accepted by the Commons, and Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden presented a supplementary budget the following day, wherein economies and new taxation were included in such fashion as to spread the burden equitably upon the entire population. An estimated deficit of $373,395,000 for the current fiscal year was to be corrected by this means and a surplus of $7,605,000 achieved. For the fiscal year 1932-33 Chancellor Snowden estimated the deficit under the previous arragements at $850,000,000, but the new measure was designed to produce a surplus of $7,500,000. The economies included a 10% reduction in the unemployment insurance benefits and reduced pay in virtually all Government services. Tax increases consisted chiefly of an upward revision of the standard rate of income taxes by 2½%, making the base rate 25%.

Although most of the measures were accepted cheerfully enough, difficulties appeared in the attempt to apply the due share of economies in the naval services. Reductions in the pay of the navy, army and air services amounted to $43,500,000. The crews of the Atlantic fleet at Invergordon exhibited such discontent over the projected slashes in pay that scheduled North Sea exercises of the fleet were cancelled, shore leave denied all sailors and the vessels ordered to return to port pending an investigation and report to the Admiralty. This incident, occurring on Sept. 15, was followed by an announcement in the Commons the following day that the ships had been ordered to their home ports for examination of the grievances. No further difficulties with the seamen developed, but the incident added greatly to the international nervousness of capital, already rendered acute by the protracted world economic crisis and its specific manifestations throughout Central Europe which, it was known, had tied up a large amount of British funds.

It became apparent in the later half of September that the manifold and various difficulties had again imperiled the stability of the pound sterling. A deputation of London financial leaders, including Sir Ernest Musgrave Harvey, of the Bank of England, visited the House of Commons late Sept. 17 and were said to have informed Mr. MacDonald that the emergency had again become acute. London reports stated that this was due partly to the naval unrest and partly to apprehensions regarding a possible early general election. The financial nervousness was made clearly apparent on Sept. 19, when the London Stock Exchange was open for a Saturday session for the first time since early in the world war. Violent liquidation of British Government securities occurred in the session and there were reports, later confirmed, that the $400,000,000 French and American credit had, to a great extent, been used up. London bankers again conferred with the Prime Minister on that day. British securities declined heavily at New York, and stock markets everywhere were unsettled.

Suspension of the law requiring the Bank of England to sell gold at the fixed price of £3 17s 10½d a troy ounce was announced by the British Government late Sept. 20, for publication on the morning of Sept. 21. The decision was reached at an emergency session of the MacDonald Cabinet, held after consultations with the Bank of England, and is said to have been unanimous. Announcement was made at the same time that the Bank of England discount rate would be raised from 4½% to 6%, effective Sept. 21. It was further made plain that the London Stock Exchange and all the provincial exchanges would close Sept. 21. There was no indication of how long the gold suspension might remain in effect, but the Government statement made it appear that this action was intended to be only temporary. In financial circles it was immediately realized that the move probably meant an ultimate downward revision of the international value of sterling, and great satisfaction was taken in the official declaration that obligations of the Government or of the Bank of England, which are payable in foreign currencies, would not be affected.

"His Majesty's Government," the announcement said, "have decided after consultation with the Bank of England that it has become necessary to suspend for the time being the operation of Subsection 2, Section 1, of the Gold Standard Act of 1925, which requires the Bank to sell gold at a fixed price. A bill for this purpose will be introduced immediately, and it is the intention of his Majesty's Government to pass it through all stages Monday, Sept. 21. In the meantime, the Bank of England has been authorized to proceed accordingly, in anticipation of the action of Parliament." In explanation of the action it was remarked that since the middle of July funds amounting to more than £200,000,000 had been withdrawn from the London market. In the day immediately preceding the decision, withdrawals were sharply accelerated and the expedient became imperative. "This decision will, of course, not affect the obligations of his Majesty's Government or of the Bank of England which are payable in foreign currencies," the announcement continued. "Gold holdings of the Bank of England amount to some £130,000,000, and, having regard to contingencies which may have to be met, it is inadvisable to allow this reserve to be further reduced. There will be no interruption of ordinary banking business. Banks will be opened as usual for the convenience of their customers, and there is no reason why sterling transactions should be affected in any way. It has been arranged that the Stock Exchange will not be open on Monday, the day on which Parliament is passing the necessary legislation. This will not, however, interfere with the business of current settlement on the Stock Exchange, which will be carried through as usual."

The Government stated, in the announcement, that they had no reason to believe that the difficulties were due to any substantial extent to the export of capital by British nationals. Undoubtedly, it was said, the bulk of withdrawals had been for foreign accounts. An emphatic warning was given, however, "that any British citizen who increases the strain on exchanges by purchasing foreign securities himself, or assisting others to do so, is deliberately adding to the country's difficulties." The co-operation of the banks had been secured, it was said, for restricting purchases by British citizens of foreign exchange, except where required for actual needs of trade or for meeting contracts. "His Majesty's Government have arrived at their decision with the greatest reluctance," the statement said. "But during the last few days international financial markets have become demoralized and have been liquidating their sterling assets regardless of their intrinsic worth. In the circumstances there was no alternative but to protect the financial position of this country by the only means at our disposal. His Majesty's Government are securing a balanced budget and the internal position of the country is sound. This position must be maintained. It is one thing to go off the gold standard with an unbalanced budget and uncontrolled inflation. It is quite another thing to take this measure, not because of internal financial difficulties, but of excessive withdrawals of borrowed capital. The ultimate resources of this country are enormous and there is no doubt that the present exchange difficulties will prove only temporary."

Comment in the press of all countries on Sept. 21 incident to the announcement, was generally of an encouraging turn. The British journals made no attempt to minimize the gravity of the step, but every effort was made to allay undue alarm and prevent actions calculated to make matters worse. It was pointed out with some urgency that there must be no scramble for foreign currencies or runs on British banks. Any belief that the action might mean total collapse of sterling, and a breakdown of the British economic system, was labeled as ridiculous pessimism. In New York, also, all newspapers directed their energies to a correct interpretation of the occurrence. Bankers here held informal conferences late Sept. 20, when the news was conveyed to them, but it was stated that no concerted action seemed to be called for. The ultimate effects on British trade and industry might be very beneficial, it was pointed out, since revalorization of the pound would automatically reduce wages and costs of production in England, relative to the rest of the world. This view also was taken, unofficially, in Washington, where it was remarked that any move by Great Britain to put her financial house in order would have a salutary effect on world affairs.

Indicative of the more responsible financial view of the gold payment suspension was a statement made in London, Sept. 21, by Mr. J. P. Morgan, who broke on this occasion his well-known rule against talking for publication. Mr. Morgan, according to the Associated Press, received a correspondent in his private office at the London headquarters of Morgan, Grenfell & Co., and expressed himself optimistically regarding the matter. "This step seems to me to be the second necessary stage in the work of the National Government, the first being the balancing of the budget," he said. "The completion of the Government's work will be the restoration of trade in this country. This being the case, it seems to me to be a hopeful and not a discouraging event, and one which brings the great work of the Government much nearer to accomplishment."

Necessary legislation to make the gold payment suspension effective was voted expeditiously by the House of Commons when the Government bill was presented Sept. 21. Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden presented the Act which merely repealed the specific section of the Gold Standard Act of 1925 "unless and until his Majesty by proclamation otherwise directs." The Treasury was authorized to take measures in relation to exchanges as may be considered expedient for meeting difficulties arising in connection with the suspenion of the gold standard. This subsection, it was provided, shall continue in force for a period of six months from the passing of the Act. Little opposition was raised to the immediate consideration of the bill, and it was accepted by a vote of 275 to 112 on the second reading, with the third reading unchallenged. There was no opposition whatever in the House of Lords, and just before midnight the measure became law when royal assent was given.

In presenting the bill Mr. Snowden described carefully certain effects of the measure, and he also gave an extended account of the events leading up to the final stage of the crisis. The legislation, he declared, will not affect the free gold market of London, as there will be no restrictions upon the importation and exportation of the metal. Also, there will be no impediment placed upon the free withdrawal of gold which has been placed in the custody of the Bank of England by foreign Governments or central banks, he added. "The situation, though it has been precipitated by recent events, has been maturing for a considerable time," Mr. Snowden explained. "Obviously, the general price level has affected the capacity of primary producers of the whole world to meet their obligations. The consequent effect upon their credit is marked, a vicious circle was set up, banks and investors became more reluctant to lend capital, and borrowers became more and more insistent, owing to the impossibility of obtaining financial assistance. The actual crisis started with the collapse of the chief bank of Austria last May, and the crisis which followed in Germany. The tieing up of funds in Germany had an immediate effect on the London market, because London is the center of international banking, and it was known, of course, that we had been lending to Germany. Once foreign centers became aware of this, the difficulties of our situation came to the front." Withdrawals of funds from London continued throughout the period of the formation of the new National Government and the balancing of the budget, the Chancellor continued. In the last few days before the suspension they were accelerated sharply, he revealed, some £5,000,000 being taken Sept. 16; £10,000 000 Sept. 17, and a further £18,000,000 Sept. 18. Besides these sums, Mr. Snowden pointed out, approximately £70,000,000 were locked up in Germany. The position became so serious on Saturday, Sept. 19, he said, that it was quite evident it could no longer be dealt with except by suspending the Gold Standard Act.

Both the United States and France were warned of the position Friday, Sept. 18, and the question of further credits was discussed. "In both cases the replies were friendly and sympathetic, but afforded no prospect of assistance on the scale obviously needed," Mr. Snowden remarked. He revealed that the credit of $250,000,000 extended the Bank of England early in August had been exhausted, while the $400,000,000 credit extended the Treasury late the same month was practically exhausted also. "Thus the crisis we have striven to prevent broke in our face and there was no alternative but to suspend the Gold Standard Act," the Chancellor continued. "We consulted the banks as to the origin of the heavy sales of sterling, and the banks assured us that as far as they can judge the selling was predominantly on foreign account and there was no evidence of any substantial export of capital by British nationals."

While the legislative enactment was in progress, Sept. 21 sterling exchange dropped sensationally. In London the currency, as quoted against the dollar, fell below $4 early in the day, but toward the close recovery set in and the final figure was $4.22½. The rate on Paris fell to 100 francs and recovered to 108 francs. In New York sterling plunged to $3.70 at first, but rallied to $4.20 at the close Monday. Dealings everywhere were on an extremely small scale, and it was remarked by informed bankers that the trading provided no real test of the market. One noteworthy result of the gold suspension and drop in sterling was an immediate general rise in commodity prices in England, particularly in the metal market. The British banks reported quiet and normal dealings. The Stock Exchange, it was decided, would remain closed Sept. 22 as well as Sept. 21. The sterling rate Sept. 22 was steady at $4.20 against the dollar, while the Paris rate slipped off slightly to 106½ francs. In view of the encouraging steadiness, a decision to reopen the London Stock Exchange Sept. 23 was announced.

There was eager discussion in Great Britain during the ensuing days of the point of possible stabilization of the pound, some authorities contending that a 25% depreciation would serve the purposes best. Some interest also was taken in informal proposals for rehabilitation of silver as a basis for currency, and in the possible effects of the depreciation on the British income from foreign security holdings. The attitude of the Government was explained briefly in the Commons, Sept. 28, by Chancellor Snowden, who was asked whether anything was being done to prevent gambling in the exchange. "The essential steps which we have already taken," Mr. Snowden replied, "are to balance the budget, set our faces against any sort of inflation measure, and control exchange purchases by persons resident in this country. It is not desirable to prevent the realization of sterling assets by foreign holders if they decide to do so. Regarding speculation, persons selling sterling well below its intrinsic value would incur serious risks, and the remedy will come quickly enough when they begin to make losses. In the meantime it is essential that speculative operations should not be assisted by allowing foreigners or their nominees to obtain new sterling credits in this country. In this connection, I welcome the decision of the Stock Exchange limiting transactions to cash dealings."

Passage of the National Government's economy bill was effected by both Houses of Parliament late in September and a semi-dictatorial rule was thus begun as the bill gave the Cabinet powers to issue orders in council for one month. Under such orders economy measures may be placed in effect without the approval of Parliament. A further important bill was introduced in the Parliament Oct. 1 in order to combat the signs of profiteering in foodstuffs that appeared here and there. This bill provides heavy penalties for such profiteering and it is believed it will prevent unreasonable increases in the prices of foodstuffs.

The world-wide financial unsettlement occasioned by the British gold payment suspension was followed, Sept. 27, by official announcements of similar action in Sweden, Norway, and Egypt. Denmark joined the other two Scandinavian countries Sept. 28. The decisions taken in extraordinary sessions of the State Councils in Stockholm, Oslo and Copenhagen were not unexpected, all of the Scandinavian countries maintaining extremely close trade relations with England. The Bank of Sweden is understood to have taken the initiative, after striving for a week to maintain the kroner at gold parity with the dollar. An explanation of the action was given to Secretary Stimson in Washington, Sept. 30 by W. Bostrom, the Swedish Minister. The Bank of Sweden, it was said, will be relieved until Nov. 30 from the obligation to pay gold against bank-notes, while exportation of the metal will be prohibited for the same period. Extraordinary demands on the gold and foreign exchange holdings of the bank followed the British suspension, it was added, and the measures thus became inevitable. The statement indicated that Swedish State finances remain in a strong position, and that the suspension is not in any way due to budgetary troubles. The Swedish bank rate was raised from 6 to 8%. Norway quickly followed the lead of Sweden, after making heavy gold shipments to the Bank for International Settlements, and the bank rate in this case also was raised from 6 to 8%. Danish suspension of gold payments followed late Sept. 28, and the suspension will last until Dec. 1. In the case of Egypt, customs officials were notified to permit no export of gold. In other important countries, meanwhile, firm determination was expressed to maintain the several currencies, at unchanged international values. Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, of Germany, stated Sept. 28 that the Government and the Reichsbank would do their utmost to maintain the stability of the mark. Dr. Luther, President of the Reichsbank, stated at the same time that "stability of the currency is an indispensable condition for our daily bread."

In Holland the Bank of the Netherlands announced Sept. 27 that the gold standard would be maintained unconditionally and that sterling balances still held by the bank probably would not involve it in any loss of consequence. Officials of the Belgian Foreign Office announced Sept. 30 that the country does not contemplate abandonment of the gold standard. Rumors that Italy was planning to suspend the gold standard were emphatically denied in Rome, where it was added that every effort would be made to protect the lira against depreciation. The Fascist Government promulgated a decree, Sept. 29, authorizing the Ministry of Finance to assume absolute control of currency exchanges and to fix the punishment for speculators in foreign currencies. Banking restrictions in Italy placed a virtual embargo on gold exports the following day, but no official embargo was declared. In Finland the Governor of the State Bank declared Sept. 28 that the monetary status will be maintained and that the country will not follow the example of the Scandinavian countries.

IMPROVED RELATIONS BETWEEN FRANCE AND GERMANY—AUSTRIAN CUSTOMS UNIONS HELD ILLEGAL.

While the financial crisis was thus in progress in Europe, diplomatic efforts were achieving a considerable measure of success in settling some of the more vexing problems that have unsettled international relations in recent months and years. Of high importance in this regard were the various indications of improvement in the relations between France and Germany. Dr. Julius Curtius, Foreign Minister of Germany, and Dr. Johann Schober, Foreign Minister of Austria, made statements before the European Union Commission of the League of Nations at Geneva, Sept. 3, formally renouncing the Austro-German customs union project. As this proposal had produced much apprehension in France when it was first promulgated last Spring, the renunciation was accepted as an indication that an opportunity for improving sentiment had been seized at Geneva. Two days later the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague handed down a decision on the question whether the proposed union would violate Austrian engagements under the Geneva protocol, of 1922. The Court held, by an eight-to-seven opinion, that such violation would occur. In view of the previous renunciation, the matter was quietly laid aside by the League Council, and nothing more has been said about it since. An interchange between Foreign Minister Briand of France, and Dr. Curtius of Germany, in the League Assembly on Sept. 11 and 12, was marked by a greater degree of amity than had been customary.

The most important development, however, was a visit to Berlin by Premier Laval and M. Briand on Sept. 27 and 28, during which tentative plans for economic co-operation between the two countries were laid down and accepted. It was indicated rather broadly that the economic collaboration may well lead to a wider movement in concert in the future. A joint communication by the leaders of the two Governments, issued Sept. 28, announced the formation of a "special organ whose method of work promises to guarantee tangible results." The Ministers of the two countries agreed, it was explained, to organize a mixed Franco-German commission, to be composed of representatives of capital and labor in the two countries, under the leadership of officials of both Governments. Meetings of this body are to be held alternately in either country, and work will commence soon, probably in the latter half of this month. "The commission has the task of examining economic questions affecting both countries, without losing sight of the interests of other nations and the necessity for international co-operation," the communication said.

Much significance also attaches to a visit that Premier Pierre Laval of France will undertake to the United States later in October. The leading French statesman will leave Havre Oct. 16, and will spend a number of days conferring with President Hoover in Washington on subjects of interest to both countries. Arrangements for the visit were completed late in September, after the advisability of a meeting had been widely discussed in the press of both lands. An official French communication, issued Sept. 21, remarked that an invitation for the vist had been accepted, and added that M. Laval "agreed with the President that an interview of this nature was desirable and would lend itself to an examination of all the grave problems whose solution at the present time must be facilitated by direct conversation."

CONDITION OF GENERAL TRADE—BIG INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS REDUCE WAGES.

Trade and industry remained exceedingly depressed. But what was regarded as an encouraging feature because looked upon as a necessary adjustment of labor costs to the changed economic conditions was announcement of wage reductions by a number of great industrial enterprises which had long deferred the step out of deference to the wishes of President Hoover expressed two years ago but who now found a lowering of wage schedules imperative while the time appeared propitious because of the marked reduction in living costs. On Sept. 22 representative companies in three leading industries took cognizance of the depressed business conditions by reductions in the compensation to employees. The United States Steel Corp. announced a general cut of about 10% in wages, affecting, it was said, approximately 220,000 employees, and leading steel independents followed promptly with indications that they would take similar action. In the automobile industry General Motors Corp. announced it would effect a downward readjustment of from 10% to 20% in all salaries. About 25% of the corporation's employees are affected, it was stated. In the rubber industry United States Rubber Co. announced that it would institute a five-day week, which will involve a reduction of one-eleventh in the pay of salaried employees.

On the same day the Bethlehem Steel Corp. took similar action, Eugene G. Grace, its President, authorizing the statement that he considered the Steel Corp.'s downward revision of wages a constructive step. Bethlehem's reduction, which is expected to be about the same ratably as that of the Steel Corp., also became effective Oct. 1 and affects some 50,000 employees. Other independent steel companies took similar action, especially Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

The wage reduction by the Steel Corp. was announced in the following statement by Myron C. Taylor, Chairman of the Finance Committee, on behalf of the directors:

For the purpose of better meeting prevailing unsatisfactory conditions in the industry, rates of wages in the plants of the subsidiary companies of the United States Steel Corp. will, effective Oct. 1, be reduced by approximately 10%, varying somewhat in the character of work performed. Such adjustment will be somewhat in line with the reductions recently made in the salaried rates.

The corporation, effective Aug. 1 last, reduced the compensation of all salaried employees 10 to 15%. Announcement of that reduction accompanied the action of the directors in lowering the annual dividend rate on the common stock of the corporation from $7 to $4. This is the first readjustment in wages of United States Steel Corp. workers since 1923, when rates of pay were increased and working hours shortened.

Eugene G. Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., made public the following statement:

I consider the action of the United States Steel Corp. in readjusting downward wage rates a constructive move. The Bethlehem Steel Corp. will make a similar adjustment, effective Oct. 1.

The General Motors Corp. announcement follows:

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., President of General Motors Corp., announced to-day (Sept. 22) an adjustment in salaries, effective Oct. 1, varying from 10% to 20%. The action does not involve hourly wage rates.

The purpose of the action is to establish a new base of salaries in line with the standards of values now existing and in harmony with the reduced cost of living. Based on these considerations, the adjustment will take the following form. Salaries up to $3,000 a year, inclusive, 10%; $3,001 to $10,000, 12½%; $10,000 to $20,000, 15%; $20,001 to $50,000, 17½%; over $50,000, 20%.

Up to the present time the corporation has made no general change in salaries.

The announcement by the United States Rubber Co. follows:

The adoption of the five-day week as the normal working schedule of its entire organization in this country has been announced by the United States Rubber Co.

In announcing the change, F. B. Davis Jr., President, pointed out that over the years there has been a gradual shortening of the working week and that the executive committee of the board of directors has decided to recognize the changed conditions of to-day by placing all operations on a five-day week basis.

So far as is known the United States Rubber Co. is the first of the great corporations to make the five-day week its normal working schedule.

The change will affect the salaried employees on Oct. 1. A reduction of 1/11th in salaries will be made to conform with the reduction of 1/11th in working time. The adjustment will apply to every salaried employee, including the president and other officers.

The companies mentioned in the foregoing were not alone in undertaking reduction of labor costs. Office employees and clerical forces, as well as those holding executive positions, had for some time been obliged to accept reductions in pay; some of these reductions having been very drastic and in not a few instances coming after previous decreases, while the process was now being extended to the laboring classes organized and unorganized, skilled and unskilled. The U. S. Steel Corporation itself, as noted above, made reductions in the salaries of executives and of office and clerical employees as long ago as last August when the company reduced the quarterly dividend on its shares to a basis of 4% per annum from the previous 7% per annum. One conspicuous instance during September of decrease in the pay of salaried employees without reductions as yet in the rate of wages paid to ordinary labor was seen in a dispatch from Chicago published in the daily papers saying that the decision of Swift & Co. to reduce all salaries to employees by 10%, effective Sept. 28, made that Company the fourth of the large packing concerns which had taken action of this kind and "extended to another field the prevailing tendency along the lines of reduction of office overhead expense." Wilson & Co., Armour & Co. and the Cudahy Packing Co. had all announced like salary decreases the previous month. The other companies which made wage reductions or cuts in executive and other salaries, or both combined, constitute a list too long to give. We have room here to name only such as attract special attention by reason of their size or the parties controlling them. Among the latter the Aluminum Co. of America was given rather unusual prominence by reason of the fact that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and his relatives hold such large interests in the property, though of course Mr. Mellon is in no way identified with the active management of the Company.

These wage decreases were simply adjustments in line with the changes in economic conditions and indicated no lessening of interest in the welfare of the wage earning classes. As bearing on this point it is worth noting that Henry Ford while visiting the Ford plant at Iron Mountain, Michigan, on Aug. 22 was reported, according to a dispatch to the New York "Times" as having announced that married men employed at the plant mentioned who do not have vegetable gardens in the future would lose their jobs. Mr. Ford expressed himself very emphatically in that respect in the dispatch mentioned, saying:

"Next year every man with a family who is employed at the plant will be required to have a garden of sufficient size to supply his family with at least part of its Winter vegetables," he said. "Those who do not comply with the rule will be discharged."

Outlining his program, Mr. Ford said the company will furnish expert advice on gardening to those not familiar with vegetable growing. Those who have yards which can be turned into gardens will be encouraged to do so. Those who have no available land will be provided with garden plots by the Company.

The Company intends to devote many hundreds of acres of its land in this district to farming, it was announced. Those employed in raising foodstuffs on a large scale will receive the privilege of purchasing their Winter's supplies at minimum cost.

"The man too lazy to work in a garden during his leisure time does not deserve a job," Mr. Ford declared. He added that he believed other companies would follow the plan.

"When the people of our country learn to help themselves they will be benefited far greater than they would be by employment insurance," he continued. "If our agricultural plan is adopted throughout the country the dole need never be thought of."

Mr. Ford said that instead of waiting for the moratorium, which he referred to as "a bankers stunt," to perform miracles, the people of the United States "should begin to help themselves."

THE CONDITION OF THE STEEL TRADE—EXTREME DEPRESSION CONTINUES—NON-FERROUS METALS ALSO DEPRESSED AND LOWER.

No improvement in the condition of the steel industry occurred during September. The "Iron Age" in its issue of Sept. 24 stated that iron and steel demand had subsided to the August level and ingot production had again receded to 29% of capacity. Prospective business in some directions, notably in public construction work, was still fairly promising, but in other lines, and particularly in the automobile industry, the outlook had become increasingly obscure. It stated that in announcing a cut of 10% in common labor rates, effective Oct. 1, the Steel Corporation and other steel producers had bowed to the inevitable after weathering two years of slack operation. "In finally recognizing the necessity of cutting the coat to fit the cloth, they have set a precedent which, it is now believed the railroads must follow, whether they obtain partial relief through rate advances or not. Railroad buying programs are extremely slow in developing, the "Age" said, and it seems unlikely that they can really get under way until the rate and wage questions are settled. In its issue of Oct. 1, bringing market conditions down to Sept. 29, the "Age" found some slight betterment, as reflected in ingot production to 31% of capacity from 29% the previous week.

"The Iron Age" made the composite price of finished steel Sept. 29 1931 2.116 c. a lb. as against the same figure a month before, the composite price of pig iron $15.42 a gross ton against $15.50 a month earlier, and the composite price of steel scrap $9.00, the low figure of the year. The magazine "Steel" described the situation in much the same way as the "Age," saying that with September output of pig iron and steel ingots proving to be "the lowest so far in the depression" it was apparent that seasonal influences were entirely impotent and that any hope of improvement for the remainder of the year must be predicated upon a stimulus flowing from a 10% cut in common labor wage rates effective Oct. 1.

The non-ferrous metals also experienced continued depression with prices moving still lower, especially in the case of tin and copper. A low record for copper for export was established on Sept. 10 when Copper Exporters, Inc. announced reduction of a ¼ cent a lb. to 7.75c. c. i. f. European base ports. The reduction brought the export price in line with the domestic quotation which then had been ruling at 7½c. a lb. for about a month. Later in the month however, the domestic price gave way to 7c.—for copper delivered in Connecticut. At New York electrolytic copper was reduced from 7.25c. to 7.00c. Sept. 14 and to 6.75c. on Sept. 16. Lake copper at New York was marked down on Sept. 12 from 7⅞c. to 7⅝c. and further reduced to 7⅜c. Sept. 16. Tin touched 21.75c. for prompt Straits, the lowest price recorded since 1899, when it sold below 20c. The New York price for tin Sept. 30 was 22⅜c. against 26¾c. Sept. 1. The price of lead remained unchanged at 4.40c. throughout the month. The feature in the lead market was the announcement made Sept. 28 to the effect that output in the southeastern Missouri district would be further curtailed 20%, effective immediately.

PETROLEUM AND ITS PRODUCTS.

Production of petroleum in the East Texas fields was resumed at 7 a. m. Saturday, Sept. 5, with a daily flow of 225 barrels allowed to each well in the field, according to orders of the Texas Railroad Commission. Production was expected to range between 350,000 and 400,000 barrels daily under this order, allowing for wells practically completed but which had been held off pending the lifting of the shutdown order. On Sept. 11 representatives of six mid-Continent States met in conference at Oklahoma City with members of the Oil States' Advisory Committee, headed by Cicero Murray, a cousin of Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma. Their purpose was understood to be the development of a basis for uniform price quoting and production regulation in the major oil States they spoke for, namely Louisiana, Arkansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas. Governor Murray strongly urged a plan for unitization of the oil fields of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas with production gauged by flow meters. He pointed out that in the last six weeks prices had climbed from a low of 10c. a barrel to a general top price of 70c. a barrel brought about mainly by the curtailment enforced by martial law in Oklahoma and Texas. However, it was reported a little later that independent producers in the East Texas oil fields were ignoring the posted price of 68c. a barrel and were selling and delivering down to 32c. a barrel. Martial law in the East Texas area was nevertheless strictly maintained and Governor Ross Sterling of Texas stated emphatically that it would continue to be maintained. On Sept. 21 the amended order of the State Railroad Commission with respect to the East Texas fields became effective, lowering the allowable of the field from 225 barrels for each well to 185 barrels per day. Production in the field for the 24-hour period I. Murray, a cousin of Governor William H. Murray of tia controlling the field. Pique production in the field prior ending 7 a. m. on Sept. 23 totalled 363,423 barrels from 1,994 wells, according to General Wolters, commanding the militia controlling the field. Peak production in the field prior to the issue of this order totalled 436,000 barrels one day. A development in Oklahoma was the action of the Phillips Petroleum Co. in withdrawing its offer of $1.00 a barrel for top crude and the posting instead of the prevailing Mid-Continental scale ranging from 46c. to 70c. a barrel. The Phillips Petroleum is the only large company which indicated any willingness to co-operate with Governor William Murray in his demand that Oklahoma crude be sold at $1.00 or not at all. However, notwithstanding that the Company was quick to accede to the $1.00 demand it actually never purchased crude at that price according to newspaper advices. With the re-opening of the East Texas field the average daily production for the whole country rapidly increased and for the week ending Sept. 26 was reported at 2,193,350 barrels, as against 1,746,300 barrels in the week ending Sept. 5. The following shows the leading price changes of the month both in the case of crude oil and in the refined products.

CRUDE OIL.

Tuesday, Sept. 1.—Crew Levick Co. to-day posted a price of $1.90 for Pennsylvania crude oil in the Titusville, Franklin and Oil City fields. This is 10 cents above the price for crude in National Transit Lines.

Tuesday, Sept. 1.—South Penn Oil Co. to-day advanced Corning grade crude oil 5 cents a barrel, to 70 cents.

Thursday, Sept. 3.—Crew Levick Co. to-day posted 15 cents a barrel premium for Pennsylvania grade crude, making the Titusville-Oil City district price $1.95. Previously, it had been paying only 10 cents.

Thursday, Sept. 3.—Gulf Pipe Line Co., Sun Oil Co., and the Tidal Oil Co. met the 68-cent a barrel price posted by Magnolia Petroleum several weeks ago.

Friday, Sept. 4.—The South Penn Oil Co. to-day advanced Corning and Pennsylvania grade crude oils 5 cents a barrel, to 75 cents and $1.45, respectively.

Friday, Sept. 4.—Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. to-day met the price of 68 cents a barrel posted by other major companies for East Texas crude.

Sept. 14.—Tidewater Pipe Co. posts 15c. advance in Bradford and Allegheny districts, new price $2.25 per barrel.

Sept. 14.—South Penn Oil Co. posts 15c. advance, new prices being $1.95 for Pennsylvania crude in National Transit Co. lines; $1.80 in South west Pennsyl. Lines Co. lines; $1.70 in Eureka lines; $1.60 in Buckeye lines

Sept. 16.—South Penn Oil Co. posts 5c. advance in Corning crude, new price 80c. per barrel.

Sept. 18.—Phillips Petroleum Co. posts price schedule in Oklahoma ranging from 46c. to 70c. per barrel, withdrawing their previous offer of $1 per barrel.

Sept. 29.—Ashland Refining Co. reduces Somerset crude in Cumberland Pipe Lines 15c. a barrel, new price 65c. per barrel.

GASOLINE AND KEROSENE.

Wednesday, Sept. 2.—The Richfield Oil Co. to-day posted an advance of ½-cent a gallon in the tank-car price of gasoline, to 6¼ cents a gallon, at the New York Harbor refinery.

Thursday, Sept. 3.—The Standard Oil Co. of New York to-day advanced the tank-wagon and service-station price of gasoline 1 cent a gallon in New York and New England, with a few localities in Maine and New Hampshire exempt from the raise. The new New York retail quote is 16.3 cents service station, including the 2-cent State tax and 14.3 cents tank wagon. Richfield Oil of New York and Warner-Quinlan met the advance immediately.

Thursday, Sept. 3.—Warner-Quinlan to-day advanced the tank-car price of gasoline ¼-cent a gallon, to 6¼ cents a gallon, at the New York Harbor refineries, meeting the raise posted by Richfield yesterday.

Thursday, Sept. 3.—The Continental Oil Co. to-day advanced the service station price of gasoline in Denver 1 cent a gallon to 19 cents, including the 4-cent Colorado State tax. Other marketeers met the raise.

Thursday, Sept. 3.—The Texas Co., Continental Oil Co. and Standard of New Jersey to-day posted an advance of ½-cent a gallon in the tank-car price of gasoline, the new price being 6 cents a gallon, at New York Harbor refineries.

Friday, Sept. 4.—The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey to-day announced that, effective to-morrow morning at 8 a. m., it will advance tank-wagon and service-station prices of gasoline 1 cent a gallon throughout its territory, with the exception of Delaware.

Friday, Sept. 4.—The Atlantic Refining Co. to-day advanced tank-car gasoline ½-cent a gallon to 6 cents a gallon at its Philadelphia refineries, and 6¼ cents a gallon in New England areas.

Friday, Sept. 4.—The Sinclair Refining Co. to-day announced that, effective to-morrow, it will advance the price of kerosene ¼-cent a gallon to 5 cents a gallon, in tank-car lots, at New York, Philadelphia, Portsmouth, Va., and Charleston, S. C.

Friday, Sept. 4.—Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky to-day advanced the price of service-station gasoline throughout the State 1 cent a gallon, making regular gas 18 cents a gallon and the premium grades 21 cents. Other marketeers are expected to meet the advance immediately.

Sept. 8.—Shell Eastern Petroleum advances bulk gasoline ¼c. per gallon at seaboard points north of New York, making new price at Boston and Providence 6¼c. Portland unchanged at 6½c.

Sept. 8.—Gulf Refining Co. advances bulk gasoline ¼c. per gallon at Savannah, making new price 6¼c. per gallon.

Sept. 9.—Gulf Refining Co. advances bulk gasoline ½c. per gallon at Philadelphia and Norfolk, making new price 6¼c. per gallon.

Sept. 9.—Sinclair Refining Co. announces new schedule of 6c. per gallon for U. S. Motor at New York, Providence, Philadelphia and Southern coast ports.

Sept. 10.—Atlantic Refining Co. advances service station prices 1c. per gallon in Philadelphia district.

Sept. 14.—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey advances tank-wagon kerosene 1c. per gallon to 9½c, throughout its territory, with the exception of Delaware. Tank-car price unchanged.

Sept. 17.—Standard Oil Co. of Ohio reduces gasoline service station price 1c. in Montgomery County to 15c. per gallon, and 1c. in Greene County to 16c. per gallon.

Sept 23.—Republic Oil posts ¼c. reduction in U. S. Motor gasoline, tank car. New price 5¾c.

Sept. 23.—Standard of Indiana reduces standard grade 2c. per gallon and competitive grade 2.1c. per gallon in Rock Island, Moline and Davenport, new prices being 12.5c. and 10.9c., respectively.

GRAIN PRICES CONTINUE TO DECLINE—FEDERAL FARM BOARD SALES OF WHEAT TO BRAZIL, GERMANY AND CHINA.

Grain prices continued their downward course after some recovery the middle of the month. The renewed decline, the closing part of September, was in part the result of the general demoralization of all the markets caused by the departure of Great Britain from the gold standard. The September option for wheat in Chicago, after moving up from 44⅞ Sept. 3 to 50½ Sept. 18, dropped to 45c. on Sept. 21, the day when Great Britain abandoned gold payments, and, after some irregular fluctuations the remaining days of the month touched 44⅝c. Sept. 30. The December wheat option in Chicago from 48 cents Oct. 3 advanced to 51⅜c. Sept. 16 and touched 46⅞c. Sept. 30. At Winnipeg the course of fluctuations was somewhat different, an advancing tendency being noted after some slight decline on Sept. 21. The rise was presumably ascribable to the rapid depreciation in the market value of the Canadian dollar. The October option for wheat at Winnipeg which Sept. 1 covered a range of 53 to 53⅞ and Sept. 19 was 51½@52¼, on Sept. 21 ranged between 51 and 54⅝ and covered a range of 54½@55½ Sept. 24 with a range on Sept. 30 52½@54⅛. Corn at Chicago tumbled badly the last 10 days of the month. The September option for corn in Chicago, which on Sept. 1 sold at 43⅛@44¼ and Sept. 19 ranged between 41¼ and 42¾, rapidly declined, beginning Sept. 21 and touched 36c. on Sept. 30. The December corn option in Chicago was 36⅞@38⅛ Sept. 19 against 39⅛@39⅝ Sept. 1 and then moved down to 35@35¾ on Sept. 30. September oats in Chicago closed at 20c. Sept. 30 against a range of 21¼@21⅝c. Sept. 1 while December oats at Chicago closed at 21⅞c. Sept. 30 against a range of 22⅝@23⅛c. on Sept. 1. The crop report of the Department of Agriculture at Washington issued Sept. 10 showed a further reduction in the probable yield of spring wheat in this country from 118,000,000 to 111,000,000, at which figure comparison was with an actual harvest of spring wheat in 1930 of 251,000,000 bushels. This left the prospective crop of winter wheat and spring wheat combined at 886,000,000 bushels Sept. 1 against 894,000,000, the estimate on Aug. 1, but comparing with an actual harvest of 903,000,000 bushels in 1930 and a five-year average of 822,000,000 bushels. The estimate of the corn crop was decreased from 2,775,000,000 bushels Aug. 1 to 2,715,000,000 bushels Sept. 1, which compares with only 2,094,000,000 bushels raised in 1930, the crop in that year having been heavily reduced by prolonged drouth.

Announcement that China had accepted the proposal of the Federal Farm Board for the purchase of wheat and flour, to be used exclusively for famine relief purposes on terms of payment extending over a period of years was made at Washington by President Hoover on Sept. 4. The amount at present settled upon, the announcement said, was "about 15,000,000 bushels." Complete details of the sales contract, which was somewhat different from that originally proposed, was given out by the Farm Board on Sept. 26 and published in the Financial Chronicle on Oct. 3, page 2192. On Sept. 11 the Grain Stabilization Corporation announced that with the approval of the Federal Farm Board it had sold 7,500,000 bushels of wheat to the Deutsche Getreide Handelsgesellschaft of Berlin. Obligations of the purchaser bearing 4½% maturing Dec. 31 1934, payable at New York, and guaranteed by Germany, are taken in payment. Delivery is to be made at the average rate of 833,333 bushels per month, with provision for the increase of the monthly quota if desired and for added storage charges after Nov. 15 1931. Shipments are to be made from Atlantic or Gulf ports, with preference to ships sailing under the flag of the United States for 50% of the tonnage. It was stated that this sale, with the sales previously negotiated, with the Chinese and Brazilian Governments brought the total of wheat contracted for export by the Grain Stabilization Corporation since July 1 1931 at 47,500,000 bushels. A copy of the Brazilian decree authorizing the exchange of 1,275,000 bags of Brazilian coffee for 25,000,000 bushels of American wheat was received by the Department of State Sept. 13 and was published in the Financial Chronicle of Sept. 19, p. 1851. Resolutions calling on the Federal Government to get out of competition with private business were adopted by the directors of the Farmers Grain Dealers Association of Illinois at a meeting in Peoria on Sept. 16.

Lot Boardman of Camden, N. J., President of the National Coffee Roasters Association with headquarters in New York, on Sept. 21 named a committee of representative American coffee men to aid the Government in the handling and sale of the 1,050,000 bags of coffee previously acquired from Brazil in trade for 25,000,000 bushels of wheat. George S. Milnor, President of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, asked Mr. Boardman to act as Chairman of this committee and to name its personnel. It was made known that importation of wheat into Brazil had been forbidden for 18 months, simultaneously with publication of the decree authorizing of Brazilian coffee for American wheat.

The so-called "Walla Walla" plan for wheat surplus control failed to meet the approval of the Federal Farm Board —the Board indicating this in a letter under date of Sept. 16 to Representative John W. Summers (Rep.) of Walla Walla, Wash. In his letter, C. B. Denman, Acting Chairman of the Board, said "Your plan assumes that the purchases would be consummated only in the event that the prices were such at date of delivery as to show a profit to the purchaser. Thus the vital factor in the plan would be the price on July 1 1932. Since that price is wholly incapable of determination in advance, the venture would, to that extent, become a speculation on the part of every producer who signs the contract." Mr. Denman added that "the Agricultural Marketing Act directs the Board to minimize speculation." It should be stated that this "Walla Walla" plan contemplates that wheat growers throughout the United States should be given an option expiring July 1 1932 by the Grain Stabilization Corporation to purchase wheat, and that producers should be induced to curtail their acreage of wheat planting for the 1932 harvest in an amount which, with normal yields, would equal in bushels the amount optioned to them.

Announcement was made at the White House on Sept. 4 that Floyd R. Harrison had resigned as a member of the Federal Farm Loan Board to accept a position on the staff of the Federal Reserve Board. At the same time it was made known that James B. Madison of Charlestown, West Virginia, had been appointed to membership on the Farm Loan Board.

THE COURSE OF COFFEE AND SUGAR PRICES.

Sugar prices fluctuated somewhat irregularly during September, though there was a net gain for the month. As against 1.38c. there was first a decline to 1.37c. and then an advance to 1.45c., then a reaction to 1.38c., with a renewed rise to 1.42½c. and with the close the latter part of the month at 1.40. The wholesale price of refined sugar was reduced on Sept. 3 from 4.60c. to 4.55c. by all the leading refineries in the New York market. After conferences with representatives of the National Sugar Export Corp., headed by Thomas L. Chadbourne, Presiden Machado of Cuba issued a proclamation, interpreted as notification to Cuban planters that further restrictions will be placed on next year's crop of sugar. The proclamation pointed out that in view of the fact that of the quota of sugar exports of the past crop of 1931 fixed for the United States, amounting to 2,577,000 tons, having been sold only to the extent of 1,700,000 tons, it is possible that a part of said quota may remain unsold. Accordingly, he thinks it his duty as soon as the exact surplus of sugar left over from the 1931 quota to the United States is known to "fix by decree the export quota to this Nation for 1932 basing it on the consumption requirements of that country and reducing it by an amount equal to the surplus left from 1931." Announcement was made on Sept. 14 by the United States Tariff Commission that it had ordered an investigation of duties on raw and refined sugar, molasses and related articles. This was in response to a request for an investigation made by domestic producers and refiners, particularly beet sugar growers of the West. The beet producers have been attacking importation of Philippine sugar without duty and have given notice that they would continue to fight in the next Congress for levying a tariff on the Islands' shipments. Jan. 5 1932 has been set for the date of hearing of the Government's anti-trust suit against the Sugar Institute in the New York City Federal District Court, it was made known by the Department of Justice at Washington on Sept. 10. Alleging "oppressive and uniform price fixing," the Government in its petition asks the Court for permanent injunctions against about 50 corporations and individuals involved in the Institute. The Government charges that the defendants have created and maintained and utilized the Institute as an instrumentality for promoting and maintaining a conspiracy to restrain trade. The suit was instituted in the New York court on March 30 and was the culmination of a two-year investigation of the Situation by the Department and the Federal Trade Commission.

A series of coffee bonfires with an approximate value of between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 have been ignited by the Brazilian Government to help in the elimination of a part of that Government's enormous oversupply of coffee, according to statistics compiled by the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange. The Exchange estimates that approximately 1,250,000 bags of coffee, of 132 pounds in each bag, have been destroyed in Brazil from September 1930 to the end of August 1931. Although a small quantity of the coffee was dumped into the sea, most of it was destroyed by burning in Brazilian swamps, says the Exchange, in a statement made available Aug. 30. The Exchange adds:

> From September 1930 to June 1931 the Sao Paulo Coffee Institute destroyed 479,000 bags. This was all low-grade coffee that was confiscated by the Institute or given up by producers who in return were granted permission to ship out an equivalent amount of high-grade coffee above the regulated export quotas.
> Early in June the Brazilian Government put into effect the "10 shilling" coffee export tax which provides that a special tax of 10 shillings be placed on each bag of coffee for export. The money levied from the tax was to be used for the purchase of higher grade Santos coffee for destruction under the supervision of the National Coffee Council. During the past three months the Council has destroyed 770,000 bags of coffee purchased with the money from the 10 shilling tax.

In the New York market No. 7 Rio for spot delivery was quoted at 5½c. Sept. 30, against 5⅛@5¾c. Aug. 31, 5⅞@6c. July 31, 6⅞@7c. June 30, 6⅝c. May 29, 6⅛@6¾c. April 30, 5½c. March 31, 5⅛@5⅝c. Feb. 28, 6¾c. Jan. 31, and 7¼@7⅝c. Dec. 31 1930. No. 7 Santos was 6⅞@7c. Sept. 30, against 6⅜@6⅞c. Aug. 31, 7⅛@7⅞c. July 31, 8½@9c. June 30, 8½@8¾c. May 29, and the same figures on April 30, 7¾@8c. March 31, 7¾@8c. Feb. 28, 8¾@9c. Jan. 31, 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930, and 11¼c. Oct. 31 1930.

COTTON AND COTTON GOODS—THE EFFORT TO REDUCE COTTON AREA—PRICES OF SILK AND RUBBER.

Raw cotton suffered a further severe break during September, the spot price on the New York Cotton Exchange dropping below 6c. a pound and being 5.95c. on Sept. 30, against 7c. on Aug. 31. Quite a number of the cotton-producing States enacted legislation intended to prevent any cotton being raised in 1932, but such legislation in all the States provides that requisite number of States must join in the movement, and it does not appear likely that the required percentage of the total productiionn can be obtained. In Louisiana Governor Long's proposal to declare a holiday in cotton production in 1932 became a law on Aug. 29. It prohibits both the growing and ginning of cotton, but is to become operative only if approved by States producing three-fourths of the cotton crop of the country—and Texas alone produces one-third and will not assent to this proposition. Under the Texas plan each farmer will be prohibited from planting to cotton next year more than 30% of the land he cultivated in all crops in 1931. The same percentage basis will apply in 1933, with the additional provision that no 1932 cotton land can be planted to cotton in 1933. After 1933 there will be no percentage limit, but no land can be planted to cotton in successive years. Several other States passed laws of one kind or another for cotton holidays in 1932, but contingent upon three-fourths of the cotton area agreeing to do the same, but Texas seems to stand in the way of obtaining the necessary percentage.

In cotton goods the continued decline in the price of the raw material had an unsettling effect. While prices of goods are extremely low on most lines, buyers still appear to have no confidence in their permanence owing to the continued downward tendency of raw cotton. The U. S. Census report on cotton consumption for August appeared Sept. 14 and showed that the quantity of cotton consumed by the mills in the country in August 1931 was 425,819 bales of lint and 60,729 bales of linters, as against 352,626 bales of lint and 58,105 bales of linters in October 1930. The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York reported on Sept. 14 that production during August 1931 had amounted to 209,050,000 yards, or at the rate of 52,-262,000 yards per week. This was 8.6% more than the seasonal low production rate in July, says the Association. Shipments during August were 227,644,000 yards, equivalent to 108.9% of production. New orders booked during the month amounted to 167,555,000 yards, or 80.1% of production. Stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 250,855,000 yards, representing a decrease of 6.9% during the month. This, it is stated, again established a new low figure for stocks since these statistics became comparable on Jan. 1 1928, and continued the steady reduction which has been going on since July 1 1930. It is stated that many in the industry consider that present stocks are close to minimum in view of the large number of mills and variety of fabrics covered by these statistics. The low figure for stocks on hand in 1928 was 367,000,000 yards; in 1929 it was 345,000,000 yards and in 1930 it was 350,000,000 yards. Unfilled orders on Aug. 31 1931 were 217,508,000 yards, representing a decrease of 21.6% during the month. Print cloths at Fall River (64x60 28 in.) were marked down from 3c. to 2⅞c. on Sept. 17.

Raw silk prices moved lower again and on Sept. 30 Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted at $2.25 @$2.30, against $2.50@$2.55 on Aug. 31, $2.30@$2.40 on July 31, $2.35@$2.40 on June 30, $2.22½@$2.27½ May 29, $2.35@$2.40 April 30, $2.55@$2.65 March 31, $2.70@$2.75 Feb. 28, $2.85@$2.95 Jan. 31, $2.60@$2.70 Dec. 31 1930, $2.35@$2.45 the previous Sept. 30, and $4.70@$4.75 on Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers Japanese crack double extra were quoted Sept. 30 at $2.25@$2.35, against $2.45@$2.55 Aug. 31, $2.25@$2.30 July 31, $2.40 @$2.50 June 30, $2.07½@$2.12½ May 29, $2.25@$2.30 April 30, $2.50@$2.60 March 31, $2.65@$2.70 Feb. 28, $2.85@$2.90 Jan. 31, $2.70@$2.75 Dec. 31 1930, $2.25 @$2.30 Oct. 31 1930, but comparing with $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31 1930. Crude rubber also further declined, establishing new low records. In the New York market ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were 4½ bid and 4⅝c. asked Sept. 30, against 5c. bid and 5⅛c. asked Aug. 31, 5⅝c. bid and 5¾c. asked July 31, 6 13-16c. bid and 6 15-16c. asked June 30, 6½c. bid May 29, 5⅞c. bid and 6c. asked April 30, 6⅞c. bid 7c. asked on March 31, 7⅝c. bid and 7¾c. asked on Feb. 28, 7¾@8c. on Jan. 31, 8⅜@8½c. Dec. 31 1930, and 15¾@15⅞c. on Feb. 28 1930.

WOOL AND WOOLEN GOODS—HIDES, LEATHER AND FOOTWEAR.

We find the following interesting account regarding these trades in the New England letter of the First National Bank of Boston under date of Sept. 28:

Wool and Woolen Goods.

Raw wool continues one of the bright spots in the commodity markets. Although trading has been dull, prices have continued fairly firm. An important contributing factor to firm prices is the light inventories in the hands of manufacturers and dealers. If an unusual demand for wool should develop imports on a larger scale would be necessary, as domestic supplies would be inadequate. Smaller stocks than a year ago are reported in the primary markets.

During the first eight months of this year, consumption of raw wool in this country was 22.8% over the same period of 1930, whereas in New England the increase was 27.6%. It is interesting to note that the increase in wool consumption in this country has been confined entirely to domestic wool. Consumption of domestic wool for the first seven months of the year has increased about 33% over the same period of 1930, while consumption of foreign wool has declined by 3%. The differential between wool prices in the domestic and foreign markets has been substantially less than the amount of our tariff on wool, so that imports have been unprofitable except on some basis other than price. The continuance of domestic prices at a level below parity with foreign prices, tariff considered, would make it unlikely that price weakness in foreign markets will have other than a psychological effect on prices in this country.

Hides, Leather and Footwear.

The shoe industry continues to make a favorable showing. According to preliminary reports shoe production in New England during August on a daily average basis was about 25% over the preceding month, or slightly more than the usual seasonal gain for this period. For the first eight months output of footwear in this section was approximately 79,297,-000 pairs, or 9.6% over the corresponding period of 1930. Shoe production for the entire industry in August was in the neighborhood of 32,500,000 pairs, about 15% over August 1930 and the highest monthly figure since October 1929, while for the first eight months output amounted to 220,-612,000 pairs, or 4.5% above the 1930 period.

The hide market has been characterized by erratic fluctuations since the first of the year. Two sharp upward movements, one beginning in February and the other in May, were followed by almost equally sharp declines. Present quotations on heavy native steers are down to 8½c. a pound, as against a peak of 12½c. for the second week of July.

The sharp advance in hide prices during early summer was based upon a constantly improving supply and demand position of raw hides in the domestic market. Movement into sight of cattle hides from all sources, including net imports, for the first seven months was over 21% below the corresponding period of 1930. Consumption of all cattle hide leathers, on the other hand, during this same period was about 2½% over the same months of 1930. As a result of these movements, raw hide stocks up to July had declined over 13% since the first of the year and were about 5% below July 1930. The sharp advance in the domestic market, as well as international financial difficulties, however, caused heavy offerings of foreign hides; and imports, which had been far below normal during the first five months of the year, showed a marked increase. In addition to the above factors, tanners offered stubborn resistance to the high raw material prices, partly because leather prices had not advanced correspondingly; and their reluctance to purchase except at substantial concessions from previous prices resulted in the rapid downward revision of hide prices.

Leather prices have canceled most of the rise which occurred early in the summer. While shoe production has been maintained at a high level demand has been concentrated on the cheaper grades of footwear, and in consequence shoe manufacturers could not afford to pay higher prices for leather.

THE SEPTEMBER FINANCING OF THE U. S. TREASURY.

September being one of the regular quarterly periods of financing for the United States Treasury, and Government operation showing a growing deficiency, the Treasury was obliged to come to market with quite a large volume of new obligations. As indicated in our narrative regarding Treasury financing during August, the United States Treasury towards the close of that month offered for public subscription early in September two large new issues of United States obligations. In other words, the Treasury on Aug. 31 offered $800,000,000 of 3% 24-year Treasury bonds and $300,000,000 of 1⅛% 12 months' certificates of indebtedness. The Treasury bonds, dated Sept. 15 1931, mature on Sept. 15 1955, but are redeemable at the option of the United States on and after Sept. 15 1951. Books for the certificates closed the very next day, the subscriptions reaching $1,251,-196,000, of which $314,279,500 were accepted. This latter total consisted entirely of exchange subscriptions—that is, subscriptions in payment for which old issues of certificates maturing Sept. 15 1931 were tendered in payment and which by the terms of the offering were given preference in the making of allotments of the new certificates. As a matter of fact, of the total subscriptions of $1,251,196,000 for the new certificates, no less than $523,786,000 consisted of exchange certificates, the cash subscriptions consisting of the remaining $727,410,000. The offering of the $800,000,000 of 3% Treasury bonds, to the general surprise, were oversubscribed by only a narrow margin, these subscriptions aggregating no more than $940,559,550, of which $803,294,400 were accepted. This was in sharp contrast with Secretary Mellon's experience in putting out new long-term obligations the previous June and also the previous March. In June the Treasury offered $800,000,000 of Treasury bonds bearing 3⅛% interest and maturing June 15 1949, but redeemable at the option of the United States on and after June 15 1946. Total subscriptions at that time ran well in excess of $6,000,000,000, the exact aggregate being $6,315,524,500. The previous March the Treasury offered $500,000,000 of Treasury bonds bearing 3⅜% interest, and the subscriptions aggregated $2,111,871,300, or over four times the amount offered. The small oversubscription in the $800,000,000 offering in the present instance reflected the hesitancy of banks and investors in subscribing for new issues in view of the probability of large further new issues to make good the growing deficit of Government revenues below expenditures, the threatened further drain upon the United States Treasury for a new soldier bonus, and the possibility that Congress might vote large sums for unemployment and to push through other schemes necessitating new bond issues. With the Treasury obliged to put out large further new issues for these various reasons, the rate of interest would necessarily have to be raised. This, in turn, would mean a depreciation in outstanding United States bonds bearing a lower rate of interest. It is this fear of loss from depreciation that makes banks and investors reluctant to load up with new United States securities. As a matter of fact, the new Treasury bonds almost immediately sold at a discount, and on Sept. 29 they got down to 97 6/32, while the new certificates of indebtedness were quoted on Sept. 30 down to 99 22/32 bid, 99 26/32 asked.

In this state of things it became a question whether the experience on the present occasion might not imperil the Treasury's contemplated financing in December. It will be recalled that in June Secretary Mellon gave six months' notice, as required, to the holders of the 3½% Treasury notes of Series C-1930-1932 still outstanding, that the Government intended to redeem them on Dec. 15 1931, a year in advance of their maturity. It was estimated that $451,719,450 of these 3½% notes called for redemption were still outstanding. The object in calling these notes was of course to replace them with other long-term obligations at a lower rate of interest. But with the Government obliged to make repeated appeals to the money market and the investment market, it becomes a question whether the Treasury will be able to effect the saving in interest which it counted upon when calling the notes for redemption in advance of their maturity.

It should be stated here that at one time during the month it seemed certain that the American Legion, composed of veterans of the World War, would pass a resolution in favor of paying in cash the remainder of the face value of the adjusted service certificates, which would mean an additional drain of $2,363,312,949 on the United States Treasury in addition to the $1,000,000,000 which the Treasury had to pay out in the spring of 1931 as a result of the action of the last Congress in authorizing loans up to 50% of the face value of the adjustment service certificates. However, President Hoover decided very suddenly to accept the invitation of the League and go to Detroit and attend the opening session of the League on Monday, Sept. 21. He did this out of a desire to persuade the American Legion not to go on record in favor of additional bonus legislation. This happened to be the day when news came that Great Britain had decided to suspend gold payment, and the event served to demoralize the financial markets of the whole world. And the President's speech on the occasion referred to had the effect of preventing approval of the proposition by the convention. The President's address was not specifically directed against the bonus proposal, and, indeed, made only incidental allusion to it. The burden of the address, rather, was the imperative need of economy in political expenditures. The President declared that "the imperative moment had come in our history when increase in governmental expenditures must be avoided." Acknowledging and accepting the offer of the Legion to help in relief work the coming winter, the President reminded the members that "there is to-day even a greater service to our country, and that is the determined opposition by you as a great body of influential men to any additional demands upon the nation until we have won this war against the world depression." The President added: "I am not speaking alone of veterans' legislation, which might be a minor part, and which may be urged at this convention, but I am speaking equally of the demands of any other project proposed in the country which will require increased Federal expenditures." The President also said: "Either loans or taxes beyond the very minimum necessities of Government will drain the resources of industry and commerce and in turn will increase unemployment." The President was successful in accomplishing his immediate object, for while the Legion at its session on Sept. 24 voted disapproval of prohibition by passing a resolution favoring "the submission by Congress of the repeal or modification of the present prohibition laws to the several States with a request that each State submit this question to the voters thereof," it voted down by 902 against 507 a proposition committing the Legion in favor of the bonus legislation opposed by the President. However, this did not serve to prevent further depreciation in the market value of United States Government securities.

There was also during September one very large issue of Treasury bills offered on a discount basis. This showed a further increase in the cost of this form of borrowing by the Government, though still leaving the cost extremely low. On Sept. 23 Secretary Mellon announced a new issue of 91-day Treasury bills to amount of $100,000,000, "or thereabouts," the bills to be dated Sept. 30 1931 and to mature on Dec. 30 1931, when the face amount is payable without interest. It was pointed out a total of $100,076,000 of old bills would mature on Sept. 30 and the proceeds of this new issue would go to take them up. Tenders were invited up to Monday, Sept. 28. The tenders aggregated $213,103,000 and the amount accepted was $100,761,000, while the average price realized by the Treasury was 99.692, or an average rate on a bank discount basis of about 1.22% per annum. This, while very low, was, as already stated, much less favorable than recent previous issues of the same class of bills, the cost of this form of borrowing to the Government having (as noted in our narrative of Treasury financing for the month of August) been slowly rising ever since July 24, when the Treasury disposed of $51,806,000 of 91-day bills at an average rate on a bank discount basis of only 0.46%.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN SEPTEMBER.

Aside from the $50,000,000 offering of Canadian National Ry. 4½% guar. gold bonds, the only other foreign offering in the domestic market in September was the $500,000 Porto Rican Government 4¼% hydro-electric system bonds. During August, however, there was a total lack of foreign financing.

FOREIGN FINANCING.

$50,000,000 Canadian National Ry.—4½% guar. gold bonds priced at 98 and interest, to yield 4.65% in the United States and 98½ and interest, to yield 4.61% in Canada, due Sept. 1 1951. The group offering the bonds includes the Bancamerica-Blair Corp.; Chase Harris Forbes Corp.; First National Old Colony Corp.; E. H. C. Pittfield & Co.; Bell, Gouinlock & Co., Ltd.; Fry, Mill, Spence & Co., Ltd., and Gairdner & Co., Ltd.

$500,000 Porto Rico (Government of) 4¼% hydro-electric system bonds, due Jan. 1 1951 (optional Jan. 1 1941) sold to Salomon Bros. & Hutzler of New York, at a price of 101.18, a basis of about 4.10% to optional maturity.

Domestic financing during September continued very small. Municipal offerings again led the list with the $40,000,000 issue of the State of New York impt. bonds, consisting of $25,000,000 3s and $15,000,000 4s, at a price of 100.111, the net int. cost to the State being 3.2289%. Another issue of proportion was the $20,000,000 offering of the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston, 1-yr. 4½% gold notes priced at 100 and accrued int., due Oct. 1 1932. The month's financing, classified as to nature of business and size of issue, is shown below, the table including only issues of $5,000,000 and above:

RAILROAD FINANCING.

10,000,000 Louisville & Nashville RR.—10-yr. secured 5% gold bonds at 98 and int. to yield 5¼% and due Oct. 1 1941. By J. P. Morgan & Co.

PUBLIC UTILITY FINANCING.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING SEPTEMBER 1931.

The stock market during September again became utterly demoralized with startling declines in prices. Liquidation was uninterrupted almost from beginning to end of the month. There was indeed only one day when the market took a sharp upward turn. All the other upward reactions were in the nature of feeble rallies. The cumulative effect of huge declines, continued day after day, was such as to produce aggregate losses of such extent as to be sadly reminiscent of the violent collapse in values which occurred in the stock market panic of the autumn of 1929, two years ago. As a matter of fact the aggregate money loss represented in this great depreciation, taking the whole body of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange as a basis, was the heaviest of any month since October 1929, when the panic of that year was at its height. The elaborate compilations prepared by the New York Stock Exchange show that the aggregate market value of the stocks represented on the Exchange on Oct. 1 was $32,327,037,441 as against $44,587,026,110 on Sept. 1, showing a shrinkage for the month in the huge sum of $12,259,988,669. Taking the 50 stocks included in the averages kept by the New York "Times" for so many years the average price decline was from 123.75 at the close of Aug. 31 to 88.87 at the close of Sept. 30. This, it will be seen, is an average decline of almost $35 per share. The record becomes still more striking when we turn back and find that the average for the same 50 stocks on Feb. 24 last, the high point of the year, was 173.07, the value of these representative stocks in the seven months having thus been cut almost in two. We might go a step further and note that the average market price of these 50 stocks on April 10 of last year was 245.60, that having been high for that calendar year, and on Sept. 19 1929, just before the great panic of that year was 311.90. The average for the 25 railroad stocks included in this list of 50 declined in September from $57.10 a share on Aug. 31 to 44.03 Sept. 30, while the drop in the case of the 25 industrial shares was from 190.42 per share on Aug. 31 to 133.72 on Sept. 30.

The passing of Great Britain off the gold standard on Sept. 21 with the disorganization that this caused in the financial markets all over the world, played of course an important part in the enormous shrinkage in values which occurred during the month, but even before this the shrinkage was in progress day after day, without let-up or hindrance of any kind. There was, of course, all sorts of bad news, which acted to drive prices down—such as the unexampled depression in trade, with the steel mills of the country engaged to only 29% of capacity, with railroad revenues dropping lower and still lower, with dividend reductions and omissions coming in a startling array, with industrial profits dropping to the vanishing point, with prices of agricultural products, like grain and cotton and many other commodities falling to the lowest figures of the century and even beyond that, and with numerous other depressing features too numerous to attempt to mention in detail. As a result of all this, confidence in the value and stability of things was almost completely undermined. In addition, there appeared to be a sort of feeling that what had happened to Germany and England, in their monetary and financial involvements, might happen in the United States. This led to extensive withdrawals of capital and funds from the United States, just as previous withdrawals from Germany and England had occurred and caused general havoc. No less than $28,700,000 gold was exported from the United States during the month of September, besides which gold was earmarked for foreign account in the prodigious sum of $277,000,000, leaving a net loss of gold to the country in amount of $255,000,000 even after very considerable importations of the metal from Argentina, Canada, &c., being the largest falling off in the gold stock of the country ever recorded in any month. Share properties were thrown over in big reams, both for foreign and domestic account, and while extensive selling was thus going on there was no buying of stocks of any consequence, leaving the market with no buying orders of substantial amount. The most unfortunate feature of all was that the declines in the bond market were as violent as the declines in the stock market and some of them even more so, and doubtless also there was more or less short selling, though the Stock Exchange completely forbade this on Sept. 21 and Sept. 22 when the crisis growing out of the British departure from the gold standard was at its height. Owing to all this it was impossible to inaugurate any genuine movement for the support of prices, though it was reported at one time that bankers were forming, or had formed, a pool in amount of about $25,000,000 to purchase bonds, but if this pool ever got into active operation it never accomplished anything in the way of arresting the decline in bond values which grew in intencity as the month advanced.

The market was weak and depressed on the closing day of August and this weakness was carried into September, though on the first day of the month the market steadied itself somewhat, but this simply proved a prelude to further declines the next day and all the succeeding days. On Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 2 and 3, the market broke badly as a result of a long budget of unfavorable news. The Lehigh Valley RR. suspended payment of dividends on its common stock; the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co., which in 1929 sold as high as 467, but now was in the neighborhood of 50, also passed off the dividend list as far as the common stock is concerned, while the Florida East Coast Ry. went into the hands of receivers. On Thursday, Sept. 3, there was an additional depressing feature in the big decline on the Berlin Stock Exchange, which created renewed nervousness regarding conditions in Germany, while the railroad returns for the month of July, which then were coming in, were just as bad as those for previous months had been.

On Tuesday, Sept. 8, after a three-day holiday the Stock Exchange having been closed on Saturday, Sept. 5 by voluntary action of the members and having also been closed on Monday, Sept. 7 owing to its being Labor Day and a holiday, the market was again depressed owing to a large budget of unfavorable news, at the head of which was the announcement that the veterans of the war, represented by the American Legion, after having received a bonus in amount of about a billion dollars only six months before, were planning to make a second raid on the Treasury which would involve an outlay of over $2,000,000,000 more. Another blow to the market on that day was the reduction in the dividend on the New York New Haven & Hartford stock from a basis of 6% per annum to 4%. Further dividend reductions came on succeeding days, especially in the case of the railroads, and these had the effect of causing further sharp declines on Wednesday Sept. 9 and Thursday, Sept. 10. On Sept. 9 the further paring down of the dividend on New York Central stock, which had been reduced six months before from a basis of 8% per annum and now was further lowered to 4% per annum, was the distinctive feature of the day. On Thursday, Sept. 10, the market was also adversely affected by the announcement that the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific had omitted entirely the quarterly dividend payable about Sept. 30 on the common stock. As the St. Louis-San Francisco owns a considerable block of Rock Island stock the effect was that it caused a sharp break both in that stock and Rock Island stock. This was attended also by sharp declines in the bond issues of the two companies. Rock Island common, which had sold at 30 at the close on Wednesday dropped to 20 on Thursday with a recovery only to 23¼ at the close on that day. The bonds of both companies as already stated, were also decidedly weak. St. Louis-San Francisco cons. 4½s series A which had closed at 41 Wednesday, dropped to 39 on Thursday with a further decline on Friday and later in the month dropped still lower, touching 30 on Sept. 30.

Thus unfavorable news kept piling up day by day. On Monday, Sept. 14 a break in the Insull properties in Chicago had the effect of weakening public utilities in the New York market. Amer. Tel & Tel. suffered a sharp decline by reason of the suspension of dividend payments by the Western Electric Co. the whole of which stock is owned by the Amer. Tel & Tel. The railroad list continued under more or less pressure all the time and an adverse feature here was the omission of the dividend on the common stock of the Kansas City Southern RR. On Saturday Sept. 19 the market broke badly on great activity, the reason for which was not very clear at the time, but which was simply premonitory to what was to happen the following Monday when Great Britain was to pass off the gold standard. Selling on this Saturday aggregated 2,437,553 shares, a total which has been reached at a Saturday half holiday session only on rare occasions. There were reports that the $400,000,000 credit opened here and in Paris towards the close of August in favor of Great Britain was at the point of exhaustion which subsequently proved to be true; sterling exchange showed a drop of 1 5-16 with a net loss for the day of 15-16c., the bond market was weak all around, while United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland 5½s of 1937 closed with a net loss for the day of 8¼ points and United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland 5s of 1937 with a loss of 2⅝ points.

On Monday, Sept. 21, with the news over Sunday of the action of Great Britain in passing off the gold basis, accompanied by the announcement that the Bank of England rate of discount had been raised from 4½% to 6%, and that the London Stock exchange would not open for business on Monday, and that the Berlin and most of the other stock Exchanges of Europe, excepting the Paris Bourse, would also remainn closed, extensive preparations were made for dealings on the New York Stock Exchange. The latter, after mature consideration, decided not to close. Due precaution, however, was taken to forbid short selling on that day. Sterling exchange dropped as low as $3.71, and a big slump occurred in bonds, especially in foreign obligations, though there was no further decline in United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ire.and 5½s of 1937, which broke so badly the previous Friday and Saturday. The stock market, however, held up better than expected, after early recessions, and showed a sharp recovery. This was all the more noteworthy in view of the fact that three Pittsburgh banks, one of large size, found it incumbent to close business, while a Stock Exchange firm of moderate size, namely, Schuyler, Chadwick & Burnham, was suspended from the Stock Exchange. The railroad list in particular displayed further strength, and Reading Ry. stock spurted up 26¾ points, rising from 48¼ to 75, with the close at 63½, New York Central being engaged in acquiring additional amounts of the stock, it subsequently transpired. This had a strengthening influence on the whole railroad list, and the rise of the rails served to give tone to the whole market, so that the net declines for the day were not large, except in a few special instances. On Tuesday, Sept. 22, the course of prices was irregular, but with the tone on the whole good. On Wednesday, Sept. 23, prices spurted up with great rapidity on the announcement after the close of business the day before that the United States Steel Corp. had given notice of a 10% reduction in wages, and that this had been followed by other steel companies, and that the General Motors Co. and the United States Rubber Co. had taken steps for readjustment of wages. On Thursday, Sept. 24, however, the market completely reversed its course, and prices plunged downward even more violently than they had advanced the previous day. Foreign banks were having huge amounts of gold earmarked for their account at the Federal Reserve banks, and numerous dividend reductions were reported among the railroads, and also by industrial concerns of large importance. The Northern Pacific Ry. reduced the quarterly dividend on its common stock from $1.25 a share to 75c., and the Delaware Lackawanna & Western reduced the quarterly dividend to 50c. a share from $1 a share on the $50 par capital stock, after having previously reduced it from $1.50 to $1 a share, and the Pere Marquette Ry. suspended dividends on both the 5% cum. pref. stock and the 5% cum. prior pref. stock. The Anaconda Copper Mining Co. likewise passed its dividend.

The rest of the month the market continued extremely depressed, and prices tumbled lower and still lower, with only feeble rallies from time to time. At the half-day session on Saturday, Sept. 25 the market showed somewhat of a tendency towards firmness, but on Monday, Sept. 28 news that Sweden and Norway and Egypt had followed Great Britain's example in suspending gold payments caused a new downward turn in values. So did extreme weakness in a number of pivotal stocks like American Tel & Tel., American Can, Consolidated Gas, Union Carbon & Carbide, and Coca Cola, besides a break in Kresge under large offerings. Among the railroads, great weakness in Atchison, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and some other rail stocks served to pull the whole market down. Many of the public utilities also continued under pressure, most of them dropping to the lowest figures touched in a great many years. On Tuesday, Sept. 29 all the United States Government issues were heavy, reflecting nervousness over prospective increases in taxation. On Wednesday, Sept. 30 conditions were much the same, but word to the effect that the railroads in Eastern trunk line territory were about to reach an agreement on the plan for dividing up railroad mileage among the four great railroad systems served to stiffen the railroad stocks, and the firmness in these led to an occasional rally in the rest of the market, which, however, was never maintained for any length of time, while the poor returns of earnings that kept coming in for the month of August served to prevent any rise even in the railroad list, except in the case of a few of the Eastern trunk line properties like New York Central and Pennsylvania RR. The reduction in the dividend on Baltimore & Ohio stock was also a depressing influence, though the reduction was not as great as had been feared, the decrease having been from a basis of 5% per annum to 4%; earlier in the year the stock was on a 7% basis.

Trading was on quite a large scale, the sales on the New York Stock Exchange for the month aggregating 51,040,168 shares, as against only 24,828,522 shares in August, but comparing with 53,545,145 shares in Sept. 1930 and 100,056,120 shares in Sept. 1929. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales for Sept. 1931 were 10,202,250 shares, against 4,779,515 shares in August and comparing with 11,787,265 shares in Sept. 1930.

There is room here to give only a few illustrations going to show the extent of the losses in leading stocks which occurred during the month. United States Steel common dropped from 88⅛ Sept. 1 to 71 Sept. 30; Amer. Tel & Tel. from 172⅜ Sept. 1 to 130½ Sept. 30; J. I. Case from 63⅝ Sept. 1 to 38¼ Sept. 30; Westinghouse Elec. & Mfg. from 63½ Sept. 1 to 43⅛ Sept. 29; General Electric from 41 Sept. 1 to 27¼ Sept. 30; American & Foreign Power from 28¾ Sept. 1 to 12¾ Sept. 30; American Water Works & Electric from 48 Sept. 1 to 25¼ Sept. 30; North American from 68¾ Sept. 1 to 35⅛ Sept. 30; Allied Chemical & Dye from 112 Sept. 1 to 82 Sept. 30; American Smelting & Refining from 31½ Sept. 1 to 19¾ Sept. 21; Auburn Automobile from 137½ Sept. 1 to 95 Sept. 30; Standard Oil of N. J. from 40⅝ Sept. 2 to 29⅝ Sept. 30. The railroad list distinguished itself in much the same way. New York Central fell from 71¼ Sept. 1 to 57¼ Sept. 21 and closed Sept. 30 at 62½; Atchison fell from 138½ Sept. 1 to 105 Sept. 21; Balt. & Ohio dropped from 46⅜ Sept. 1 to 31 Sept. 21 and closed Sept. 30 at 35; Union Pacific fell from 143 Sept. 2 to 110¼ Sept. 21 with the close Sept. 30 at 114; Southern Pacific from 73¾ Sept. 1 to 55⅛ Sept. 21, with the close Sept. 30 at the same figure; Reading common from 75 Sept. 21 to 45 Sept. 14 with the close Sept. 30 at 55⅛; Norfolk & Western from 159½ Sept. 1 to 123 Sept. 21 with the close Sept. 30 at 130; New Haven from 55 Sept. 2 to 36½ Sept. 21, with the close Sept. 30 at 39; Missouri Pacific pref. from 51½ Sept. 2 to 29 Sept. 21 with the close Sept. 30 at 31½; Kansas City-Southern from 21½ Sept. 9 to 8¼ Sept. 21; Rock Island common from 37 Sept. 1 to 20 Sept. 10 with the close Sept. 30 at 29.

The bond market, as already stated suffered just as severely as the stock market and in this we refer not only to foreign government issues, which naturally were under pressure as the result of the financial upheaval in Great Britain, but more particularly to the railroad issues and the industrial properties. Without enumerating any of these, we introduce here the following tables giving quite an extended list of bond issues of all the various classes.

THE MONEY MARKET DURING SEPTEMBER 1931.

The suspension of gold payment by England was reflected in only minor degree in the New York money market. The only effect was a slight stiffening in the rates for time loans on security collateral and some advances in the rates for bankers' acceptances, though this latter was due to the peculiar special conditions which developed in the bill market and which grew out of the action of foreign banks in selling acceptances in order to acquire gold for export or for earmarking. There was no deviation whatever in the call loan branch of the market from the 1½% rate which had been ruling unchanged for so many months. It is to be noted, though, that the demand for call loan accommodation kept steadily dwindling as it had for so many months previously, owing to the decline in speculative activities on the Stock Exchange. The figures showing this decline in Stock Exchange borrowing are set out in the paragraph dealing specifically with the subject further along in this article. Outside the Stock Exchange call loans were available all through the month at a concession from the Stock Exchange figure of 1½%. In the early part of the month the concession from the official figure
